THE CHOLERA

DEPRIVED OF ITS HORRORS BY PURIFYING AND ENRICHING THE BLOOD.

NOW IS THE TIME TO USE A PREVENTIVE.

There is none equal to

HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

THE CHOLERA

Is defective vitalization of the blood, and when the blood loses its

LIFE-GIVING POWER,

It causes relaxation of the contractile powers of the blood vessels of the body, and the intestines open their myriad blood vessels, and all the albuminous or flesh-making material passes off from the bowels.

PURE AND HEALTHY BLOOD RESISTS DISEASE.

And while there may be no occasion for alarm, those of impure blood are most liable to suffer.

NOT A FEW

of the worst disorders that affect mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect Helmbold's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla. It cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood.

Scrofulous, mercurial and syphilitic diseases destroy whatever part they may attack. THOUSANDS DIE ANNUALLY from protracted diseases of this class, and from the abuse of mercury. Visit any hospital, asylum or prison, and satisfy yourself of the truthfulness of the assertion. The system best resists the inroads of these diseases by a judicious combination of Tonics.

HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Is a Tonic of the greatest value—arresting the most inveterate diseases after the glands are destroyed and the bones already affected. This is the testimony of thousands who have used and prescribed it for the last 16 years.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the extract of Sarsaparilla in venereal affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of Syphilis, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states, "That no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is in the strictest sense a tonic, with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious."

TWO TABLESPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

The decoction is exceedingly troublesome, as it is necessary to prepare it fresh every day, and the syrup is still more objectionable, as it is weaker than the decoction; for a fluid saturated with sugar is susceptible of holding in solution much less extractive matter than water alone, and the syrup is otherwise objectionable, for the patient is frequently nauseated, and the stomach surfeited by the large proportion of sugar taken with each dose of Sarsaparilla, and which is of no use whatever, except to keep the decoction from spoiling. Here the advantages and superiority of the Fluid Extract in a comparative view are strikingly manifest.

AUSTRIA AND PRUSSIA.

German journals continue to discuss with keen interest the probabilities of a war between Austria and Prussia.

Nothing has, as yet, transpired to throw any light upon the eventual issue of the quarrel.

The London Morning Post, of the 29th, says that the position of affairs every day becomes more critical.

In Berlin the language of the Press, by evident dictation of the Government, is warlike, and great military preparations are being made everywhere throughout the Kingdom.

In Austria the Government is also taking measures in anticipation of the coming struggle.

The Post thinks that Count BISMARCK is not likely to fail where the chances of accomplishing his object are in his favor.

Prussia has forwarded a circular dispatch to the minor German States, laying stress upon the inefficiency of the appeals to the Federal Diet to settle the present conflict. The dispatch further points out the necessity of the various States taking up a definite position, on one side or the other, in the struggle which the armaments of Austria seem to render more and more imminent.

The dispatch accuses Austria of having violated the Convention of Gastein, and assumed a threatening attitude. It expresses doubts as to the power of the Confederate States to carry out their good intentions toward Prussia, in the relative state of the Federal military organization, and points out the necessity which has arisen for introducing reform in the present system.

The dispatch concludes as follows: "It is urgent for Prussia to know if, and to what extent, she may rely upon your assistance in case she should be attacked by Austria, or forced into war by unmistakable menaces."

The Berlin journals represent that the Austrian armaments and preparations are very extensive, and some of them admit that in view of the Austrian preparations orders may have been given by Prussia to take such military preparations as may be indispensable.

Vienna advices assert that Austria has determined to put an end to the provisional state of affairs in the Duchies, and if necessary will propose that the question be referred to a European Congress.

The Independance Belge, of the 29th, publishes intelligence from Weimer, according to which the King of Prussia gave his consent, on the 26th, to certain military arrangements, which, although only of a preliminary nature, indicate that war is almost inevitable.

The London Times says: "There is too much reason to fear that the peace of Europe is about to be broken by one of the least just and least necessary wars of modern times, and we heartily hope that England may hold aloof from it."

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Jamaica Commission.

The steamship Tamania has arrived from Jamaica. The Royal Commissioners were bringing the investigation to a close, and expected soon to leave for England. The most important evidence obtained during the last fortnight had been respecting the extent of the so-called rebellion, and how far Gov. EYRE was justified in the assertion that the conspiracy was general. Gov. EYRE based his opinion on a multitude of evidence, both oral and documentary, which he said he received from custodians and other gentlemen of property and influence in the country; but, strange to say, His Excellency, when called upon, was unable to produce the documentary evidence, and had altogether forgotten from whom the oral evidence had been obtained.

Among the witnesses examined as to the means employed for the suppression of the rebellion were Gen. O'CONNER, Col. NELSON, Lieut. BRANT and Provost-Marshal RAMSAY.

Mr. RAMSAY has been arrested on the charge of murder.

An address of loyalty has been presented to His Excellency from over 5,000, chiefly blacks, deprecating the massacres at Morant Bay, and deploring the means employed to suppress the rebellion.

Miscellaneous News.

The apprehension of trouble in Germany and the Fenian agitation in America continued to depress the Funds, and it was remarked that Consols, on the 28th, touched a lower point than has been known since the commercial crisis of 1857.

SATTERTHWAITE'S circular of the evening of the 28th says: "There is little alteration to note in American Securities since our last. Prices have remained steady. Any tendency to improvement in quotations induced by the falling premium on gold in New-York has been counteracted by fears of political trouble in Germany. Five-Twenties and Eries each close at a quarter advance on the week. Illinois Central has been in active demand, and touched 81, but closes at 80½@80¾."

The Post says:

"We enter on the Easter holidays under the most unfavorable circumstances. The Austro-Prussian difficulties excite great attention, and the 'Bears' are taking great advantage of the unsatisfactory position of affairs to depress prices as far as possible."

Dr. COLENSO has intimated his intention to maintain his legal right as a Colonial Bishop and to enforce his demand against the Colonial Bishoprics' fund, from which his salary is paid. The suit will be heard next term.

Half a dozen war vessels are preparing for sea at Plymouth, and it is reported that their destination is the St. Lawrence River.

The funds continue more active, owing to the end of the quarter. The Bank rate of discount remains at six per cent.

The Times city article, March 30, says: "The business in the various markets yesterday was chiefly for the purpose of clearing up transactions until Tuesday next, since although the Stock Exchange will be open on Saturday, the operations on that day are not likely to be large. There will be no resumption of activity until Tuesday next.

The English funds opened without the slightest symptoms of recovery from the depressed prices of yesterday, and subsequently experienced a further fall, which, however, was temporary. The first and last price was 86¾@86¾, but at one time there was a decline to 86¾. The next account is fixed for the 9th of May.

The increased depression during the afternoon was consequent upon telegrams of a further downward movement on the Frankfort and Paris Bourse.)

Whereas, The Senate of the United States, on the 25th of July, 1861, adopted a resolution in the words following, to wit:

Resolved, That the present deplorable war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States now in revolt against the Government and in arms around the Capitol; that in this national emergency Congress, banishing all feelings of mere passion and recollecting only its duty to the whole country, declares that this war is not prosecuted upon our part in any spirit of oppression, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of these States, but to maintain and defend the supremacy of the Constitution, and all laws made in pursuance thereof, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality and rights of the sovereign States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease.

And whereas, The said civil war has ceased; therefore,

Resolved, That the Senate, in redemption of the pledge given by the adoption of said resolution, will defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution and all laws made in pursuance thereof, and will preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States, the said Southern States included, unimpaired.

POSTAL.

Mr. ALLEY, from the Post-office Committee, reported an act to provide that the soldiers' individual memorial shall be carried through the mails at the usual rate of printed matter. It was considered and passed.

THE FISHERIES.

Mr. RAYMOND obtained permission to make a report from the Committee on Foreign Affairs. He stated that some days since, a resolution was referred to that Committee, calling on the Secretary of the Navy to send armed vessels to the Fisheries adjacent to the British Provinces. He was instructed to make a preliminary report. It might be some interest to the House to state the circumstances which had made the present attention to this subject a matter of necessity. It grew out of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. The original right of the Americans to partake in the fisheries on the coast of Newfoundland had been enjoyed in common with the other colonists previous to their independence, and had been recognized as an existing right by the treaty of 1783. It was not conceded, not a privilege granted, but a right, admitted and recognized as a right under that treaty. The Americans had continued to fish there till the war of 1812. By the treaty of 1814 no provision had been made for the subject, the American Commissioners who were authorized to negotiate at Ghent, having been expressly instructed by their Government not to allow the right of fishing on the coast to be drawn into question at all. The matter had been therefore left precisely as it had been before, under the treaty of 1783, which admitted their right to fish, but disturbances had occurred between the rival fisherman which led to the Convention of 1818, Messrs. GALLATIN and RUSH acting on the part of the United States Government. By that Convention the Americans renounced and received the right to fish within three miles of the shores of the British Provinces. That was not a concession by Great Britain, nor a restricting of any right or any privilege. It was the renunciation by the United States of the absolute right to participate in those fisheries, which the United States had enjoyed from the beginning, and which had been expressly recognized, previous to the treaty of 1783. The United States had renounced the right of fishing within one marine league of the coast. Under the Convention of 1818, the Americans still continued to fish, until disturbances arose in 1851, when the Provincial Government claimed the right to exclude American fishermen to a greater extent than three miles from the coast, putting upon that clause an entirely new interpretation, namely, that the line by which the three miles were to be measured was to be drawn from headland to headland of all the buoys along the coast, including the great Bay of Fundy, the Bay of Chaleur, Northumberland Straits, the Strait of Canso, &c. That would have excluded American fishermen from some of the most valuable fishing grounds on that coast. The American Government never admitted the justice of that interpretation. In 1845, by a remonstrance of Mr. STEVENSON, the then Minister to England, the matter was brought to the attention of the British Government. A case was then made up by the provincial authorities and submitted to the law officers of the Crown. On that case the law officers decided two points; first—that the treaty of 1783 was annulled by the war of 1812 and the treaty of 1814; second—that the claim to draw the line from headland to headland of the great bays was a good one. Both points were decided against the American claim; but the American Government refused to recognize that decision, and the British Government waived it in 1845; so that the fisheries went on. The Americans enjoyed them in common with the Provincials after the Convention of 1818 until the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. By that treaty Americans were again admitted to the exercise of the right, and were allowed to fish along the coast, without reference to the three miles jurisdiction. That was the state of the case till the Reciprocity Treaty was abrogated. The American fishermen were now thrown back on the rights which they enjoyed previous to the Reciprocity Treaty. The House would perceive that some important questions of construction would arise under that state of things. It would become a question under which treaty we were now to enjoy the right of fishing on these coasts. The British claimed that by the treaty of 1814 the preceding treaty of 1783 was annulled; but that claim could not be maintained, because, if so, then it was equally clear that the treaty of 1818 must have been annulled by the treaty of 1854; so that they were thrown back either on the original concession in the treaty of 1783 or on the rights which were enjoyed previous to that time. Probably, however, the construction which both Governments would consent to put upon it would be that by the abrogation of the treaty of 1854, both parties were thrown back on the convention of 1818, and the American fishermen would be permitted to carry on their share of the fisheries, as they were under that convention, to within three miles of the coast. He had no idea that the American Government would ever consent to the drawing a line from headland to headland of these great bays. Such action was preposterous. In the decision given by the law officers of the Crown they said that the term "headland" as used in the Treaty of 1818, was evidently intended to mean the headlands of those great bays. But it so happened that the term "headland" was not in that convention at all, indicating great carelessness in the examination of the case.

Mr. STEVENS inquired whether under the law of nations, and without any treaty or convention, American fishermen had not the right to fish to within a marine league of the shore.

Mr. RAYMOND gave it as his own opinion that all those treaties were abrogated, and that we fell back on the rights which we enjoyed before any treaty. According to the Law of Nations, we had certainly the right to fish to within a marine league of the shore all along the coast.

Mr. PIKE stated that his object in offering the resolution, which formed the groundwork of this preliminary report, was not a belligerent one. There were a thousand American vessels now on the fishing-grounds, manned by active, energetic, quick-witted men, and perhaps there was an equal number of British vessels there, manned by men jealous of their rights. If these parties were allowed to adjudicate their own claims, it would be easily seen that trouble might arise. The Provincial Legislature proposed to have an armed police force there, and it was but right that the American Government should have one or more armed vessels there to preserve the peace.

Mr. RAYMOND simply desired to put the House in possession of the leading facts of the case. He was not aware that the British Government had given any official information to this Government of the steps taken in connection with the matter, but he found in the London Times, of March 17, a statement in an editorial article, relating to the termination of the Reciprocity Treaty, that vessels of war had been placed on the coast to protect the British rights and to prevent collision, and that the American fishermen would be duly warned, and the exclusion of their boats enforced. He was of the opinion that the only grounds on which the British had any shadow of right to warn off our fishermen was the small strip of three miles from this coast. He thought it quite right and proper that the British Government should send armed vessels there to act as police and prevent collision, and he thought it equally necessary and proper that our Government should do the same. On that point there was no difference of opinion in the Committee on Foreign Affairs. He had no doubt that our Government had taken such steps. He did not anticipate any collision, although he could readily see that if the claims of each party were pushed to their extreme limits, there would arise a question which might lead eventually to war. Our interests in those fisheries were well worth protecting at all costs and hazards, and it was therefore important that there should be sufficient force there to protect them, and to prevent a conflict while negotiations on the subject were pending, if our Government saw fit to invite negotiations for the permanent security of our rights. He had been instructed to offer a resolution of inquiry. He believed that the inquiry would meet with a prompt response, and that the House would receive such information as would serve as a basis for whatever action the House might think fit to take. It would be seen that steps had been taken to secure our rights, and information of these steps would be very readily communicated.

Mr. RAYMOND then offered a resolution requesting the President to inform the House what steps have been taken to protect the rights and interests of American citizens in the fishing grounds adjacent to the British Provinces, and whether any legislation or other action on the part of Congress is, in his judgment, necessary to secure those rights and interests, in consequence of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854.

The resolution was adopted.

PUBLIC PRINTING.

Mr. LAFLIN, from the Committee on Printing, reported a resolution to print for the use of the House 7,000 extra copies, for the use of the Treasury Department 1,000 extra copies of the Special Reports of United States Revenue Commissioners, in distilled spirits, petroleum, proprietary medicines, iron and steel, wool, copper and zinc, &c.

Mr. GARFIELD moved to amend by requiring the Public Printer to furnish a complete index of the contents, and said he would move a similar amendment to all resolutions to print pamphlets, &c.

The amendment was agreed to, and the resolution adopted.

APPOINTMENTS.

The Speaker announced the following appointments to fill vacancies on Committees caused by Mr. RADFORD being excused from service on them: On the Committee of Elections, Mr. NICHOLSON; on the Committee on the Pacific Railroad, Mr. HUBBELL of New-York.

LAND GRANTS.

The Speaker presented a message from the President transmitting a communication from the Secretary of War, with accompanying papers in relation to grants of land made by acts of Congress, passed in the years 1850, 1853 and 1856, to the States of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and Louisiana, to aid in the construction of certain railroads.

These grants would expire by limitation on the 11th day of August, 1866, leaving the roads, for whose benefit they were conferred, in an unfinished condition, and the President recommends that the time within which they must be completed shall be extended for a period of five years; which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

THANKS TO GEN. HANCOCK.

Mr. ANCONA, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back, with a substitute, the joint resolution expressive of the thanks of Congress to Major-Gen. WINFIELD S. HANCOCK for his gallant, meritorious and conspicuous share in the great and decisive victory of Gettysburgh. The substitute was agreed to, and the resolution was passed.

THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

He also reported a bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims by giving it jurisdiction to hear and determine all claims of Paymasters, Commissaries of Subsistence, and other disbursing officers of the United States, for relief from responsibility on account of losses of public funds or vouchers, by capture or otherwise, during the late war. On motion of Mr. CONKLING the bill was recommitted and ordered to be printed.

THE GRADE OF GENERAL.

Mr. DEMING, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back with amendments a bill to revive the grade of General in the United States Army. It authorizes the President of the United States, whenever he shall deem it expedient, to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a General of the Army of the United States, to be selected from amongst those officers in the military service of the United States most distinguished for courage, skill, and ability. It fixes the pay proper at $400 per month, and the allowances the same as were given to the Lieutenant-General by the act of Feb. 29, 1864, reviving that grade.

Mr. DEMING said he would not ask the House to consider the bill now, but would ask its postponement as a special order till Tuesday next. It was so ordered.

THE COMMISSARY DEPARTMENT.

On motion of Mr. DEMING the Committee on Military Affairs was discharged from the further consideration of the joint resolution for the relief of certain Commissaries of Subsistence of the United States Army, no legislation on that subject being deemed necessary.

PRIVATE BILLS.

Mr. KETCHAM, from the same Committee, reported an act for the relief of Rev. D. H. HERMANCE, late Chaplain One Hundred and Twenty-eighth Regiment New-York Volunteers, which was considered and passed.

OREGON RAILROADS.

Mr. ROUSSEAU, from the same Committee, reported a bill granting lands to the State of Oregon to build a military road. After considerable discussion, in which Messrs. ROUSSEAU, HENDERSON, CONKLING and WILSON, of Iowa, participated, the bill was, on motion of Mr. ROUSSEAU, referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

PRIVATE BILL.

Mr. ANCONA, from the same Committee, reported a bill for the relief of JOHN C. MCFERRAN, Paymaster of the United States Army, to allow him, in the settlement of his accounts, the difference between an amount receipted for by him, as contained in a strong box, and the amount which it actually contained. After considerable discussion the bill was recommitted.

THE NATIONAL SOLDIERS' ASYLUM.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the same Committee, reported a joint resolution appointing managers for the National Asylum for disabled volunteer soldiers, which was considered and passed.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the same Committee, offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Secretary of War to communicate to the House a list of all persons or firms, manufacturers of artificial limbs, who have been employed or authorized to furnish arms, legs, hands or feet of their invention or construction to the soldiers at the expense of the Government. Also a list of the names and residences of all soldiers thus furnished, indicating, also, in the case of each man, what artificial limb or member has been provided for him, at what date, at what cost, and from what manufacturer.

RELIEF OF PAYMASTERS.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the same Committee, reported a bill for the relief of Paymasters in the army. It provides that there shall be allowed or paid to Paymasters and Additional Paymasters of the army, who have been employed in the payment of troops during the war of the rebellion, a commission of one-fourth of one per cent. on all the sums actually disbursed by them, as a compensation for their risks and labors attending such service. The amount that may become due under the act shall be paid by any Paymaster of the army out of moneys appropriated for the pay of the army, on a certificate to be issued by the Second Auditor of the Treasury, that the accounts of such paymaster or Additional Paymaster have been examined and adjusted, provided that said commission to any one Paymaster shall not exceed at the rate of one thousand dollars per annum for the time he was actually in service and employed as disbursing officer, from the commencement of the war to the cessation of active hostilities on April 13, 1865.

The bill was read twice, and then, the morning hour having expired, it went over till to-morrow.

THE BANKRUPT BILL.

The next business in order was the motion made by Mr. DRIGGS to reconsider the vote whereby the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy was rejected about a week since.

Mr. CONKLING asked whether, if the vote was reconsidered, the friends of the bill would permit earlier votes also to be considered, so as to admit amendments, or whether they would consent to its being recommitted.

Mr. JENCKES replied that if the bill reorganizing the Judiciary, which had recently passed the Senate, should become a law, it would necessitate some modification of the details of this bill, and suggested that much modification might be properly left to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. But if the gentleman from New-York had any important amendment to suggest, he would let it be offered now.

The Speaker stated that no amendment could be offered to the bill in its present shape, and that the vote ordering it to a third reading could not now be reconsidered, but that the bill could be recommitted with or without instructions.

Mr. JENCKES intimated that a recommittal of the bill would be, in effect, its defeat.

Mr. CONKLING asked whether it would not be acceptable to have it recommitted with leave to report at any time.

Mr. JENCKES replied that it was not a matter for him, but the House, to decide. He understood the objections of the gentleman from New-York to be simply to the machinery of the bill.

Mr. CONKLING said that his objections were not designed at all to diminish the credit due to the gentleman from Rhode Island, and to the Select Committee, for preparing a bill which contained so many valuable principles and provisions, and he was quite willing to vote for it, if some of the objections, which to him seemed unanswerable, were removed from it.

Mr. COOK intimated that his objection to it was, that it overruled the Homestead Exemption Laws of the State of Illinois. He was unwilling to exchange the one for the other.

Mr. SPALDING gave it as his opinion that the bill as it now stood was the best bankrupt or insolvency law to be found in the English language. He had submitted it to the examination of some of the best business men of the country, and their report of it was to be considered as an act in favor of creditors rather than of debtors.

The first question, being the reconsideration of the vote by which the bill was rejected, was taken by yeas and nays, and resulted yeas 83, nays 45. So the vote rejecting it was reconsidered. The question then recurred on the passage of the bill.

Mr. DRIGGS moved the previous question.

Mr. CONKLING, of New-York, asked him to withdraw that motion, that he might move to re-commit, with leave to report at any time.

Mr. JENCKES, of Rhode Island, thought the question might as well be met now, leaving details to be settled hereafter.

The previous question was seconded. The vote, on ordering the main question, was taken by yeas and nays, and resulted—yeas, 68; nays, 67.

Mr. JENCKES offered to let the vote on the passage of the bill be taken on a day to be fixed. Objection was made, and the House proceeded to vote, by yeas and nays, on the passage of the bill. The vote resulted—yeas, 70; nays, 73. The following is the vote in detail:

YEAS—Messrs. Alley, Allison, Ashley of Ohio, Baldwin, Banks, Baxter, Beaman, Boutwell, Brandegee, Broomall, Bundy, Chanler, Darling, Davis, Dawes, Dixon, Donnelly, Driggs, Eliot, Farnsworth, Ferry, Grinnell, Griswold, Hart, Hale, Hooper, Hogan, Hotchkiss, Hubbard of Iowa, Hubbard of Connecticut, Hulburd, James Humphrey, James M. Humphrey, Jenckes, Kasson, Kelly, Ketcham, Laflin, Longyear, Marvin, McCullough, McRuer, Morehead, Morris, Nicholson, Plants, Raymond, Rice of Massachusetts, Rice of Maine, Rogers, Scofield, Smith, Spalding, Starr, Taber, Taylor, Thayer, Francis Thomas, John L. Thomas, Jr., Trimble, Trowbridge, Upson, Van Aernam, Van Horn of New-York, Van Horn of Missouri, Ward, Washburne of Indiana, Williams, Windom, Wright—70.

NAYS—Messrs. Ancona, Ashley of Nevada, Baker, Barker, Benjamin, Bergen, Bidwell, Bingham, Boyer, Buckland, Clarke, Cobb, Conkling, Cook, Cullom, Dawson, Defrees, Delano, Deming, Denison, Eldridge, Farquhar, Finck, Garfield, Glossbrenner, Goodyear, Harding of Kentucky, Harding of Illinois, Hayes, Henderson, Higby, Hill, Holmes, Hubbard of West Virginia, Hubbell of New-York, Hubbell of Ohio, Kelso, Latham, Lawrence of Pennsylvania, Lawrence of Ohio, Le Blond, Loan, Marshall, McClurg, Mercur, Miller, Morrill, Moulton, Myers, Newell, Niblack, Noell, Neil, Orth, Payne, Perham, Price, Randall of Pennsylvania, Randall of Kentucky, Ritter, Rollins, Sawyer, Schenck, Shellabarger, Sitgreaves, Stevens, Stillwell, Strouse, Thornton, Washburne of Illinois, Washburn of Massachusetts, Welker, Wilson of Iowa—73.

No further motion to reconsider being in order, Mr. CONKLING subsequently introduced the same bill anew with some modification, and it was read twice and referred to the Select Committee on the Bankrupt Law.

The House then proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table, when the following matters were taken up and disposed of:

INCORPORATION OF AN INSURANCE COMPANY.

Senate amendment to the act to incorporate the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of the District of Columbia. Referred to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

INDEMNITY TO PENNSYLVANIA.

The Senate amendment to the act to reimburse the State of Pennsylvania for money advanced the Government for war purposes. The amendment which was simply to fill a blank, with the words "March 14, 1864," was, on motion of Mr. MYERS concurred in.

PUBLIC LANDS.

The Senate bill to provide for the disposal of certain lands, therein named, was read twice, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

OREGON RAILROADS.

The Senate bill to amend the act granting lands to the State of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military railroad from Eugenie City to the eastern boundary of the State. Disposed of, as the previous bill.

NATIONAL CEMETERIES.

The Senate joint resolution respecting the burial of soldiers who died in the military service of the United States during the rebellion. Considered and passed.

BOUNTIES AND PENSIONS TO COLORED SOLDIERS.

The Senate joint resolution respecting bounties to colored soldiers and pension bounties and allowances to their heirs. Read twice and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

REVISION OF THE STATUTES.

The Senate bill to provide for the revision and consolidation of the statutes of the United States. Read twice and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

THE MICHIGAN SHIP CANAL.

The Senate bill granting certain lands to the State of Michigan, to aid in the construction of a ship canal to connect the waters of Lake Superior with the lake known as Lac La Belle, in said State. Read twice and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Mr. BIDWELL, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported back the bill to amend the fifth section of the Agricultural College Bill, by extending the time within which its provisions shall be accepted and such College established. After considerable discussion and propositions to amend, the bill was recommitted with authority to report at any time.

COINAGE OF FIVE CENT PIECES.

Mr. KASSON, from the Committee on Uniform System of Coinage, Weights and Measures, reported back a bill to authorize the coinage of five cent pieces. It directs that as soon as practicable, after the passing of the act, there shall be coined at the Mint of the United States a five cent, composed of copper and nickel, in such proportion, not exceeding twenty-five per cent. of nickel, as shall be determined by the director of the mint, the standard weight of which shall be sixty grains, with no greater deviation than four grains to each piece; the shape, weight and device of the coin to be determined by the director of the mint, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury.

In reply to a question Mr. KASSON stated that the director of the mint had prepared a suggestive model somewhat larger in diameter than the three-cent piece authorized by last Congress. It was left in the bill, as is usual in the case of the smaller coins, to the discretion of the governor of the mint, and the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. GRINNELL inquired what the device was?

Mr. KASSON could only say it was not the intention to provide it with the head of any living person.

Mr. THAYER remarked that that was satisfactory.

Mr. CONKLING said that if the new coin was to be sixty grains in weight, it should be larger than the old copper, which only weighed sixty-one grains.

Mr. KASSON thought his friend was mistaken as to the weight of the old cent.

Mr. THAYER suggested that, as twenty-five per cent. was to be of nickel, it could not be the size of the old copper cent.

Mr. CONKLING asked why not, as nickel was lighter than copper.

Mr. THAYER admitted that, but said it was infinitely more malleable.

Mr. KASSON thought it quite safe to leave the matter in the hands of the authorities of the Mint, who were opposed to large coins.

Mr. GARFIELD inquired whether the coin would be intrinsically worth its nominal value.

Mr. KASSON replied—Certainly not; it was to be used as a mere temporary coin, better than paper, and to be subsequently redeemed.

Mr. GARFIELD hoped the country would not have another standard of value.

The bill was passed.

RESOLUTIONS FROM THE NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

Mr. DAVIS presented joint resolutions of the New-York Legislature in regard to the States lately in rebellion.

PENSIONS.

Mr. FARQUHAR asked leave to offer a resolution directing the Committee on Invalid Pensions to inquire into the expediency of amending the existing pension laws by providing:

First—That all pensions hereafter granted shall be in amount due to the rank held by the person at the time of his death, discharge or muster out.

Second—Allowing every pensioned soldier to draw annually one uniform suit of clothing, and Third—To pay pensioners quarterly instead of half-yearly.

Mr. HARDING, of Kentucky, objected, and then, at 4:15, the House adjourned.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL.

OUR ALBANY LETTER.

ALBANY, Tuesday, April 10, 1866.

In the House, last evening, in Committee of the Whole, a bill was considered, reported from the Committee on Militia and Public Defence, appropriating $500,000 to arm and equip the National Guard, of this State.

Mr. D. P. WOOD, of Onondaga, whom the members call the "watch-dog of the Treasury," since he has been somewhat conspicuous in opposing appropriations, made an earnest speech against the bill under consideration. He said that $200,000 had already been appropriated in the General Appropriation Bill for the National Guard. The Committee of Ways and Means of which he had the honor to be a member, had examined the whole question, and arrived at the conclusion that this was all that was necessary. Last year the same thing occurred. The Ways and Means Committee gave the National Guard $200,000; yet a bill was got through under the whip and spur of the previous question, giving $650,000 more to this fancy militia. Last year the National Guard obtained in all $850,000, a sum so enormous as to call out a protest from the Comptroller, who declared it cost more to sustain the militia than it did to support the State Government. Last year, however, the country was involved in war. Then the only argument needed to hurry through a bill was the plea of military necessity. Now we were at peace, and cholera was the only argument. He appealed to members to stop this enormous leak in the Treasury.

Mr. DOWNING, of Queens, argued in favor of the bill, insisting that it was a correct maxim in "time of peace to prepare for war"—that it was the duty of the State to arm the National Guard. The bill, he said, called for no more money than was asked for by the Inspector-General and other military officers.

After further argument by Mr. VEEDER, of Kings, in favor of the bill, and Messrs. BURDITT, of Otsego, and D. P. WOOD, in opposition, the Committee reported progress and asked leave to sit again. The House refused to grant leave, thus killing the bill effectually. So half a million of dollars are saved to the Treasury.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Bill for the better regulation of Gas Companies. A full abstract of the provisions of this important bill was given in the TIMES correspondence at the time Mr. GOODRICH, of Kings, introduced it. It will be recollected that that bill contains very stringent provisions for the protection of gas consumers. It provides that all profits of gas companies, after paying ten per cent. dividend on the capital stock, shall be divided among the consumers of gas, according to the quantity respectively consumed. Companies are required to make annual reports to the Comptroller, giving full accounts of their capital, business, profits, &c.

Mr. GOODRICH spoke at some length in support of the bill, saying that it was absolutely necessary that something should be done to protect the people against the swindling extortions of gas companies. Other corporations were restricted by the Legislature, and there was no good reason why gas companies should be wholly exempt from safeguards that would protect the interests of the people.

Mr. WEED, of Clinton, wanted to know if the bill would not ruin gas companies in the country.

Mr. GOODRICH—No; I fail to see how any company can be ruined that is allowed to make dividends of ten per cent.

Mr. GOODRICH continued his remarks in favor of the bill, saying that one gas company in Brooklyn had paid the enormous dividend of 55 per cent., and that the stock of gas companies ranged from 150 to 285.

After some amendments had been made, the most important of which was a provision that the bill shall only apply to gas companies in incorporated cities, the Committee reported the bill to the House, and it was ordered to a third reading.

In the Assembly, this morning, the Committee on Trade and Manufactures reported adversely on the bill to limit the hours of labor in the factories in this State to ten hours. The report was agreed to. Mr. MILLSPAUGH, of Orange, moved to reconsider. Mr. BRANDRETH, of Westchester, who is the acknowledged champion of the workingmen, sustained the motion, which was carried by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Aley, Baldwin, Crawford, Barkley, Berryman, Brandreth, Buckman, Canfield, Creamer, Donoho, Faulkner, Fay, Farris, Frear, Frost, Goodrich, G. Graham, B. N. Huntington, Jenkins, Kniskern, Langner, Lyons, Maurice, McColl, McCloskey, McVey, Millspaugh, Oakey, Patrick, Penny, Pitts, Pomroy, Potter, Post, A. L. Reynolds, W. H. Rice, Richardson, W. H. Rogers, Seebacher, Sherman, B. E. Smith, E. S. Smith, Snyder, Speaker, Stephan, Stiles, A. Y. Stewart, Tracy, Tucker, Turtelot, Vandenburg, Warren, Weller, Williams, D. P. Wood—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Andrus, Baker, Biddlecom, Brown, Brunson, Congdon, Ellis, Gleason, J. G. Graham, Harrington, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kreidler, Lockwood, Morse, Palmer, Ranney, J. C. Rogers, Shaw, Topliff, Udall, Wilson, Younglove—23.

The bill was then referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Just before the House adjourned this afternoon, Mr. LITTLEJOHN, of Oswego, rose to a question of privilege. It would be remembered, he said, that he had taken issue yesterday with the ruling of the Speaker on a certain resolution which had been offered by Mr. KREIDLER, and which sought to instruct our Senators and Representatives in Congress how to vote on the Civil Rights Bill, recently vetoed by the President. The rules of the House require that every resolution giving rise to debate shall lie over one day for consideration. A motion for the previous question was made by Mr. WILBER, of Dutchess. The point of order was raised that the resolution must lie over under the rules. The Chair decided the point of order not well taken, and on an appeal, was sustained in that ruling, and the previous question was ordered. It would be remembered that pending the vote on the resolution, he had taken his hat and left the Chamber. He desired now to state distinctly his reason for so leaving, in order to show that he did not occupy the position of a "dodgeer" on this question, and that he did not desire to conceal from any person what would have been his course had he remained in his seat. He held that man in contempt who, on this floor, or elsewhere, was afraid to place himself fairly upon record on any question properly presented for his vote.

He (LITTLEJOHN) would say that he left the House because he knew that the ruling of the Speaker was flagrantly wrong, and was an infringement of his individual rights. He knew that such ruling could find no justification in the written rules—no precedent in the history of legislation. Not only was it wrong, but it sought, by violating the rules of the House, to force him to vote upon a subject of which he was ignorant. He had been so burdened with business during the session that he had never had time or opportunity to read the Civil Rights Bill; nor had he given the President's veto more than a partial reading. Yet by the erroneous ruling of the Chair he was to be called upon to sit in his seat and vote on a question he had no opportunity to examine. Under this violation of his individual rights, he would never have responded either aye or nay on the resolution, whatever might have been the consequence; and it was only in order to relieve the House from the necessity of placing him in contempt on his refusal to vote that he had left the capital. It was in the power of the House to compel him to return by having ordered a call, in which case he should have been found at his dinner-table, and should have obeyed the order of the House. He had intended no disrespect to the House in retiring, but had designed relieving them from embarrassment which he was unwilling to bring upon them. But he did respect the rules, which had been overridden and the individual rights which had been violated, and he should have firmly refused to vote upon the resolution. He desired to say that there was at least one man on the floor who would never have been compelled to vote under a gag rule.

Mr. LITTLEJOHN then read the report of the proceedings yesterday, the remarks of Mr. PITTS, who, on moving a call of the House, had stated that he desired to place all Union men on the record. He (LITTLEJOHN) was a Union man, and had ever been so. His position had been firm and consistent during the war. He had never hesitated as to the course to be taken by the nation from the start. Before he would have parted with one inch of territory, he would have driven every rebel into the Gulf of Mexico. Before he would have consented to "let the South go in peace," he would have desolated every seceded State. He had made personal sacrifices in the war. While in feeble health he had, by his own exertion and his own cost, raised a gallant regiment and led them to the South, where he remained with them until compelled by ill-health to resign. There were professed Unionists on the floor who could not say as much.

So far as his position this Winter, in relation to Federal questions was concerned, it was well known to members where he stood. He had made no secret of his sentiments, as some had done. He had openly advised moderate counsels, and had desired to impress upon Congress the duty and the wisdom of taking middle ground, and not of rashly and unnecessarily using offensive language toward, and making needless issues with the Executive, thus risking the strength and unity of the party. Some gentlemen had talked about making records. For what? He left it to mousing politicians to cook up records with which to go home and hoodwink their constituents; but for himself he required no such aid. His constituents knew him and had trusted and honored him long enough to have confidence in him without the aid of any new made record. They knew him not to be a trimmer on any question; and it was as a Union man that he now most devoutly and ardently wished for the full and entire restoration of the Union. He had confidence in the President as a Union man now, as he had when he voted for him for Vice-President. If he (LITTLEJOHN) was in Congress he would vote for the immediate admission of HORACE MAYNARD and the other representatives of Tennessee. He had supported ANDREW JOHNSON for the second office in the people's gift, because he knew him to be a Union man in a State where Unionism cost not empty words alone, but property and ease and life itself. Having so voted for him, he would never have voted to exclude from Congress the men who stood shoulder to shoulder with ANDY JOHNSON in the same State.

He had a right to refer to another matter. As he had left the floor some gentleman had said, not in debate, but in an audible voice, that he (LITTLEJOHN) had left because he was a candidate for Collector of the Port of New-York. He had never asked that position, and never should ask for it. His desire for any office would never influence his vote on any question, but in this case he was not an applicant for the office. If he should be nominated by the President, and confirmed by the Senate, he might or might not accept it—that would be a question to be decided then, but not now.

After some further remarks from Mr. LITTLEJOHN, Speaker TREMAIN proceeded at some length to defend his ruling of the previous day, quoting from the rules of the House to show that the object of the call for the previous question was to "preclude debate," and that no debate could arise on a resolution on which the previous question was moved.

Mr. LITTLEJOHN was proceeding with further remarks when D. P. WOOD called him to order.

Mr. LITTLEJOHN—I will say I never before heard a Speaker defend himself from the chair.

The Speaker—It is most extraordinary and discourteous for the gentleman to assail the chair for a decision that has been sustained by the House.

The Assembly thereupon adjourned.

TUESDAY, April 10—P. M.

The later news from Europe this morning, to the 30th ult., from its warlike tenor from the Continent, and the unsettled Cotton advices from Liverpool, advanced the Exchange on London ⅛@¼ ℘ cent. on yesterday's sales. The transactions for the Boston steamer mail opened in the forenoon at 106⅞, and advanced to 106⅞@107 ℘ cent. for standard Bankers, to the close of the mail in the afternoon. At the same time there was no disposition to advance the Gold-Room, which ruled easier than yesterday, and at the close of regular 'Change hours stood 126@126⅛ ℘ cent. The sales of the day were 126⅛@125⅞@126 ℘ cent. The Continental Brokers had much lower quotations for United States 5-20s at Frankfort, than the relative London figures reported to the Press. At Frankfort, on Good Friday, March 30, there was quite a panic on the Exchange, on all Foreign Stocks, owing to the imminent danger of war between Prussia and Austria, and private telegrams report United States 5-20s as cheap as 72 ℘ cent., equal in London to only 69@69½ ℘ cent., while in the latter market our Press quotation is 71@71½ ℘ cent. Either rate would pay as handsomely as a remittance to New-York, but we hear only of $350,000 returned by the Hansa last night, and $750,000 advised as coming out by the Cunarder now due at Halifax. It would not be the subject of surprise if three or five millions should be temporarily returned to the New-York market, as a mere speculation in Exchange. An operation of this nature occurred last Spring on the close of our War and the rapid decline in Gold. It was soon followed by a reversal of United States 5-20 remittances to Europe to more than double the sum sent this way from Europe.

In our own market to-day, the United States 5-20s of 1862 (the only description dealt in in Europe) were pressed on sale by the German Brokers at 103⅝@⅝ ℘ cent., equal to about par ex-May coupon, and ⅛@¼ ℘ cent. lower than the later issue of 1865; a difference not before made against the 1862's, which have frequently, in the last twelve months, commanded 1@2 ℘ cent. more than the 1865's or 1864's. At the present figures there is an inducement to speculate in 1862's, to hold for a different state of things on the Continent and in the Exchanges here, when these Bonds will again be wanted on Frankfort and London orders. The 7-30 ℘ cent. continued in steady demand at 100⅛@100⅛ ℘ cent. The increasing ease in the Money market, which is settling back to 5 per cent. as the rule on demand loans, contributes to the demand for 7-30s, and also for the Compound Legal Tender Notes, which command within 1½@2 ℘ cent. of the full accrued interest. Sales were made to-day of the December 1864 Notes at 106⅛. The full accrued interest would make them 108 ℘ cent.

On the Railway list at the Stock Exchange there was a further fall in prices on Erie and Pittsburgh and no particular change on Michigan Southern, Reading and other descriptions. The fluctuations in Erie, the most active of the lines, were 76@73½@74⅛ ℘ cent.; Pittsburgh, 79⅝@⅞ ℘ cent. The Miscellaneous shares were 1 ℘ cent. higher on Canton and 2 ℘ cent. on Quicksilver. The business in Michigan Southern was quite large, and at 80@80⅛ ℘ cent. New-York Central was less firm than yesterday, and so was Fort Wayne. The general Share market, after the Boards broke up in the Afternoon, was free from excitement, and at 5:30 P. M. closed about as follows, compared with Monday night:

	Mon.	Tues.		Mon.	Tues.
U. S. 10-40s	92	91⅝	Missouri 6s	72¼	72½

The recent European advices are said to report a better demand than of late, and at rising prices, for Quicksilver. The difficulty for a year past with the New-Almaden Company, whose Shares are dealt in at our Stock Exchange, is and has been that the production of the mines is largely in excess of the demand, in the absence of the sales to Mexico, suspended by the war in that country. This difficulty cut off about 12,000 or 15,000 flasks, of 70 lbs. each, ℘ annum, or about one-fifth the entire production. Although it is not yet renewed, it seems likely to be qualified by the increased demand from Europe, and the Shares of the Company advanced yesterday and to-day from 41 to 46 ℘ cent.

The advance in the shares of the Canton Land Company of Baltimore is ascribed to the chances that the new United States Naval Depot may be located at Baltimore in place of League Island on the Delaware, below Philadelphia, or New-London, Connecticut.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Another Bonded Warehouse Robbed—Nearly $3,000 worth of Silks Carried Off.

Some time during the interval between Saturday night and Monday morning, the bonded warehouse No. 13 Greenwich-street, occupied by DEVOE & BEECHER, was entered by burglars, and nearly $3,000 worth of valuable silks were carried away. It appears that the thieves gained an entrance into the premises through a rear window, whence they crawled in over some bags, and gained the third floor, where the silks were stored. From an examination of the premises the Police are of the opinion that the gang gained access to the building through the passage in the basement of No. 13 Broadway into the yard immediately behind the warehouse. Back of the out-house a narrow ledge runs along the lower part of the windows, and standing on this ledge the burglars evidently pried open the iron shutter, which is fastened by a hook, and then they cut a pane out of the window. Through the pane the thieves crawled, passing over a heap of goods which were piled close up to the ceiling.

After gaining the open floor the thieves proceeded up stairs to the third floor, where they broke open several cases of valuable silks, and eventually stripped off the covers and labels from twenty-three pieces of silks, the property of A. T. STEWART & Co., and carried them off by the same way that they entered. The stolen goods were to be withdrawn the day the robbery was discovered, and this is the second time goods ordered out of bond have been stolen from the premises.

The Police of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, under the direction of Capt. HELME, are in active search for the burglars who committed the robbery, and they are in possession of facts that will no doubt lead to the arrest of the thieves.

An Alleged Case of Cholera before the Coroner.

During Saturday night Mrs. MARY HEILS, a native of Germany, 40 years of age, and residing on the third floor of the tenement house No. 42 Delancey-street, was seized with chills. On Sunday morning she was much better, but during the afternoon she was seized with cramps, accompanied with violent purging and vomiting, which subsequently resulted in death about 5 o'clock on Monday morning.

Coroner GOVER was notified, and on visiting the house some ten hours after death, he found that decomposition had set in, and the body was in a very offensive condition. Deputy Coroner JOHN BEACH, M. D., examined the remains of Mrs. HEILS, and from the symptoms before death he expressed the opinion that the case was one of epidemic Asiatic cholera, and the jury rendered a verdict to that effect.

After the inquest Coroner GOVER addressed a letter to Dr. E. B. DALTON, Sanitary Superintendent for the Health Board, giving him all the particulars connected with the case, and recommended that the Board of Health take action in the case. The Commissioners of Charities and Correction were also notified and requested to remove the body beyond the City limits, which request was immediately complied with.

Funeral of Brevet Brig.-General W. A. Thornton.

Yesterday, at 1 o'clock P. M., the body of Brevet Brig.-Gen. W. A. THORNTON was brought from Governor's Island to the Reformed Dutch Church in this City, corner of Fourth-street and Lafayette-place. The coffin was placed within the sanctuary, and the lid removed exposing the features of the dead. From 1 o'clock to 4 the friends of the deceased paid their last visit, passing by the coffin on which were placed several beautiful wreaths of white camelias. At 4 P. M. the relatives of the deceased arrived, followed by the reverend officiators, and after these some 70 or 80 of the garrison of Governor's Island, wearing crape upon their left arms. Quite a number of military men of various ranks occupied the front seats, among whom, beside the pall-bearers hereafter mentioned, we noticed Maj.-Gen. BUTTERFIELD.

The 773d hymn being read by Rev. Dr. DE WITT, and a passage of Scripture by Rev. Dr. TEN EYCK, Rev. Dr. KREBBS delivered the funeral oration, which was highly eloquent and impressive, and a glowing eulogy not alone upon him who, now lying before him, had served his country to the death, but on all who had died in her service, or lived to serve her.

At the conclusion of the address and prayer, the body was conveyed down the aisle, accompanied, as pall-bearers, by Genls. Robert E. Anderson, G. T. Leslie, H. Day, S. Van Vliet and Cols. S. Crispin and F. E. Prime, and followed by the relatives of the deceased, the family physician, Dr. BROWN, the reverend gentlemen who officiated, his fellow-officers, the employes of the Island, and a concourse of sorrowing friends, by whom the church was filled. The body was conveyed to the Marble Cemetery, in Second-street, and there interred. Gen. THORNTON was 68 years of age.

The Street-Cleaning Commission.

A meeting of the Commissioners for cleaning the streets was held at the Mayor's office yesterday.

Resolved, That the Comptroller be directed to inquire and report at the next meeting of the Street-Cleaning Commission, as to the extent to which the request of the contractors for new dumping-grounds and boards, and the repairs to the old boards, can be complied with.

The following was also adopted:

Resolved, That the contractors for cleaning the streets be notified to appear at the next meeting of the Commission, in order that they may report as to what time the said contractors can remove the accumulation of manure and garbage at the dumping-grounds.

The President of the Metropolitan Board of Health presented a diagram showing the streets cleaned and not cleaned during the week ending April 7, 1866, and a letter from the contractors was also presented, together with the reports of their foremen, showing the streets cleaned by them during the same period. The Board then adjourned.

After which the club and their friends sat down to a sumptuous supper, provided by the host of "The Study."

Whereas, It appears by a communication from the Street Commissioner in reply to a resolution of inquiry addressed to him from this Board that the Fordham Railroad Company has, without legal authority, possessed itself of and now uses and enjoys certain privileges at Harlem Bridge, and one of the streets or avenues of this City leading thereto, in positive and direct violation of the vested rights of this Corporation to the great detriment if not serious danger to life and limb of those of its citizens having occasion to use or pass over the temporary narrow bridge on which the rails of the said company are laid over which their cars are run to the terminus or depot they have without consent possessed themselves of on this Island, and clearly within the corporate limits and jurisdiction of the City; be it therefore

Whereas, The temporary structures at present encumbering the Battery, and used for barrack purposes by the State authorities, are unseemly in appearance and are a detriment, if not a nuisance, to the neighborhood; and as the uses to which they have been applied are no longer needed, and as they are for the most part, if not entirely, unoccupied, be it therefore,

This shows THE TIMES to be, by its extensive and comprehensive circulation among business people, its larger sheet and clearer print, the chief organ of the advertisers of the Metropolis, and the medium of communicating their wants to the public.

Note.—The number of lines in the Herald columns averages about 260, counting short and long advertisements. It seems, then, that The Times published, in 1865, nine hundred and thirty-six columns more advertisements than did the Herald. That fact conclusively decides which paper is the chosen Business Organ of the People.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Belgian, with one day's later news from Europe, arrived yesterday morning at Portland. The Austro-Prussian difficulty was still the main theme of discussion in the English and Continental journals. The London Times of March 30 says there is too much reason to fear that the peace of Europe is about to be broken by one of the least just and least necessary wars of modern times. The Times heartily trusts that England may hold aloof. The language of the Prussian Press, by evident dictation of the Government, is warlike, and great military preparations are being made throughout the kingdom. In Austria the Government is also taking measures in anticipation of the coming struggle. Austria is said to have determined to put an end to the provisional state of affairs in the Duchies, and if necessary will propose that the question be referred to a European Congress. The Independence Belge of the 29th has news that the King of Prussia has given his consent to certain military arrangements, which, though only preliminary, indicate war as almost inevitable. There was but little excitement with regard to the Fenians. Half a dozen vessels-of-war were preparing for sea at Plymouth, and it was reported they were going to the St. Lawrence, but whether to look after Fenian privateers or American fishermen was not stated. The Jamaica Commission had nearly closed its inquiries, and would soon return to England.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. Saulsbury offered a resolution reaffirming the resolution adopted by the Senate in July, 1861, that the war was conducted for no other purpose than to reëstablish the Union with the rights of the States unimpaired, and indorsing President Johnson for his efforts to restore peace and harmony on that basis. Mr. Sumner objected to the present consideration of the resolution, and it went over. Mr. Saulsbury gave notice that he would call up the resolution again on Friday next. The bill to reimburse the State of Pennsylvania for war expenses was passed. The bill to grant one hundred thousand acres of the public land to aid in constructing a ship canal from Lake Superior to Lac La Belle, in the State of Michigan, was passed. Also the bill granting land to aid in the construction of the Southern Minnesota Railroad.

In the House, the joint resolutions authorizing Admiral Paulding and Commodore Radford to accept decorations from the King of Italy were passed. Mr. Raymond, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a resolution requesting the President to inform the House what steps have been taken to protect the rights and interests of American citizens in the fishing grounds adjacent to the British Provinces, and whether any legislation or other action on the part of Congress is, in his judgment, necessary to secure those rights and interests, in consequence of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. Mr. Raymond explained the condition of the question in regard to the fisheries. The resolution was adopted. The Speaker presented a message from the President, transmitting a communication from the Secretary of War, in relation to certain grants of land, and recommending that the time within which they must be completed shall be extended for a period of five years; which was referred. Mr. Ancona reported back the joint resolution expressive of the thanks of Congress to Major-Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, for his gallant, meritorious and conspicuous share in the great and decisive victory at Gettysburgh. The resolution was passed. Mr. Deming reported back with amendments a bill to revive the grade of General in the United States Army. It was made the special order for Tuesday next. Mr. Schenck reported a bill granting to Paymasters who were on duty during the war an allowance of one-fourth of one per cent, on all their disbursements. The Bankrupt Bill came up on the motion to reconsider the vote by which it was rejected a week since. A reconsideration was carried, but on reaching the main question the bill was lost, yeas 70, nays 73. A bill authorizing the coinage of five cent pieces was passed.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate the Assembly amendments to the Brooklyn Metropolitan Railway Bill were concurred in. The following bills were passed: Regulating and increasing the salaries of members of the Metropolitan Police Force; for the relief of the Society for the protection of destitute Roman Catholic children in New-York; incorporating the Mercantile Library Association of New-York; authorizing the construction of a railroad from Glenn's Falls to intersect the Saratoga and Whitehall Railroad; relative to Life and Health Insurance Companies and their agents. It relates to the manner of preparing information as to their business. Fixing the salary of Justices of the Peace in Brooklyn at $2,500. The Governor transmitted a communication from the Secretary of the Navy asking that jurisdiction be ceded to the United States over certain lands adjoining the Navy-yard, Brooklyn, for Navy-yard purposes.

In the Assembly, the vote on the passage of the bill to incorporate the Drew Theological Seminary was reconsidered and the bill recommitted for correction to report complete. The same action was taken on the bill authorizing the North American Insurance Company to make special deposit in the Insurance Department. The bill authorizing the formation of the Rockaway Beach Land and Improvement Company was passed. Also the following: To incorporate the New-York Steamship Transit Company. To incorporate the Metropolitan Indemnity Warehouse Company. To incorporate the Traders' Exchange.

GENERAL NEWS.

By direction of the Quartermaster-General, Brevet Major James Gleason, Quartermaster United States Army, will start in a day or two from Washington to make a tour of inspection of all the battle-fields of Virginia, for the purpose of ascertaining as far as possible, the number and location of all the Union dead that have been buried on the fields. It is the intention of the Government, as we have stated, to have all these remains brought to the Arlington Cemetery for interment, where a monument will be erected to their memory.

A writer in the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser proposes to increase the freighting capacity of the Erie Canal, by building a railroad track on each bank of the canal, so that locomotives instead of horses may be used for towing boats. He says that the average speed of boats moved by horse-power through our canals is two and a half miles per hour. If by steam we can double this speed, we can double the amount of freight moved.

Col. Weir, formerly in command of the post of St. Louis, has been arrested by the State Adjutant-General of Kansas, on a charge of embezzlement of public property. The offence consisted in attempting to turn over to a company at Kansas City certain arms belonging to the State, and in the hands of the Wyandotte militia.

Col. Sprague, in command of the East Florian District, has issued stringent quarantine regulations. A station is established on Tiger Island in St. Mary's Sound, near Fernandina. A ten days' quarantine is ordered for vessels from infected ports.

The Richmond papers which suspended publication for a few days in consequence of a strike among the printers have resumed. Some of the papers have engaged printers from the North, and others have compromised with their old hands.

A new Southern monthly is announced to be published in Charlotte, N. C., by Gen. D. H. Hill and J. P. Irwin. It is to be devoted to "Agriculture, General Intelligence, Anecdotes and Incidents of the late War."

The Superintendent of the National Cemetery at Andersonville has made an appeal to the ladies of Cincinnati for flower-seeds, with which to ornament the graves of our soldiers buried there.

The Detroit (Mich.) Free Press says that there are strong indications of a general breaking up of the ice in Lake St. Clair, and a resumption of navigation in that direction.

Mrs. Letitia S. Lister, of Philadelphia, died on Tuesday from the effects of chloroform administered by a dentist.

The lake navigation between Cleveland and Detroit is fully opened.

LOCAL NEWS.

Last evening, quite a number of French Canadians, residents of New-York, met in the lecture-room of Clinton Hall, to give expression to their views touching the annexation of Canada. The chair was occupied by Mr. L. P. Fontaine. After the delivery of enthusiastic addresses by Messrs. C. E. Thompson, Michel Boyce, C. E. Bouthillier, N. Thompson and J. B. Beaubien, which were warmly applauded, a number of resolutions were read condemnatory of the proposed confederation of the British Provinces in North America, and claiming that the only panacea for the existing evils in Canada which clog her onward progress, the only hope of a successful future, lies in her annexation to the United States. These resolutions were received with great enthusiasm, and carried by acclamation, after which the meeting separated.

The trial of the libel suit in the Supreme Court Circuit, before Justice Mason and a jury, entitled De Puy vs. Hurford, was terminated yesterdy by the discharge of the jury without a verdict. They were out from 3 P. M. on Monday until 10 A. M. yesterday, and when they came into Court the Justice asked them if there was any probability that they could agree. The answer being in the negative, the Court said, "Gentlemen you are discharged." It is understood that they were about equally divided on the questions of fact which had been submitted to them to pass upon. There will doubtless be a re-trial of this case at the next term.

Thomas M. North, an Attorney and Counsellor of this City, and for a long time employed by the Hudson River Railroad Company to do their legal business, has commenced an action against the Company. It seems the Company, for some reason, became dissatisfied with him, and commenced proceedings in the Supreme Court to remove him from his position as Attorney, without paying him, as he alleges, his legal costs and fees. The defendants insist that he, North, being a salaried officer, has no lien for his costs on the papers in the several suits in which he has been engaged for the Company. The Court reserved its decision.

Yesterday at 4 P. M. the funeral of Brevet Brig.-Gen. W. A. Thornton took place at the Dutch Reformed Church, corner of Fourth-street and Lafayette-place. Rev. Drs. De Witt, Vermilye and Krebs officiated. Gens. Robert E. Anderson, G. T. Leslie, H. Day, S. Van Vleit, and Cols. S. Crispin and F. E. Prime acted as pall-bearers. The church was filled with the friends and relatives of the deceased. After the service the body was conveyed to the Marble Cemetery in Second-street, where it was interred.

At the meeting of the Metropolitan Board of Health, yesterday afternoon, the Code of Ordinances was adopted. Dr. Percy addressed the Board and warned farmers to beware of the cows which are about to be banished from Brooklyn and New-York swill-milk stables. The Board directed a Special Committee to report without delay "the evidence there is of impending pestilence, and what measures should in consequence thereof be taken" by the Board. After routine business, adjourned to 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

The Schuyler fraud cases were up again yesterday, in the Supreme Court, Special Term. After having been to the Court of Appeals, some of the questions involved in the litigation between Morris Ketchum and his co-partners and the New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company, have been sent back to be tried before Justice Ingraham. The decision of the Court was reserved.

Mr. Geo. C. Weed, cashier of the Etna Iron Works, while going through Rivington-street, on Monday evening, with $12,000 to pay off the hands, was attacked by three men who knocked him down, but failed to rob him, owing to the approach of citizens. No arrests were made, but the assailants are known.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Wildey, over the body of Mrs. Mary Heils, of No. 42 Delancey-street, whose death was the result of a combination of chills, cramps and purging accompanied by vomiting. The jury found that Mrs. Heils died of Asiatic cholera. Dr. Harris and other eminent physicians subsequently investigated the case and reported that no indications of cholera were perceptible.

The American Institute, last evening, President H. Greeley in the chair, completed a code of by-laws, and, after having taken recess from week to week for nearly two months, adjourned to the next regular meeting, at which time the by-laws are to come up for final action.

The Committee on Character, appointed by the General Term of the Supreme Court, to examine applicants for admission to the bar, will meet in the General Term Room on Saturday next, at 11 A. M., at which time the students are desired to present their credentials.

The bonded warehouse, No. 13 Greenwich-street, occupied by Devoe & Beecher, was robbed by burglars during Saturday or Sunday nights, and $3,000 worth of silks carried off. No arrests have, as yet, been made, but the police are in possession of a clue that may lead to the detection of the thieves.

In the General Sessions yesterday, Michael Allwell, for robbery in the first degree, was sentenced to the State Prison for twenty years. Several other prisoners were sent to the State Prison for lesser terms.

Yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Rynders vs. Crane, Executor, &c., of Wm. E. Burton, which has been on trial in the Court of Common Pleas, rendered a verdict for the plaintiff, for $5,101 62, on which amount the Court granted an allowance.

Registrar Harris, of the Metropolitan Board of Health reports that there were 473 deaths in this City last week. Men, 132; women, 97; boys, 150; girls, 94.

The New-York East Methodist Episcopal Conference closed its six days' session last evening. Its proceedings during the past two days have been of considerable interest.

The week's exports of cotton from this port have been unprecedentedly heavy, having amounted to 20,142 bales, making 373,438 bales shipped since Sept. 1, 1865.

Gold was not strong yesterday, although Exchange on London advanced ⅛@¼ ℔ cent. The sales of Gold were 125⅝@126¼ ℔ cent. Government Stocks weak on United States 5-20s of 1862; firm for 7-30s. The Railways left off steady. Money easy.

The general markets were depressed yesterday, and prices were tending downward, yet transactions were on a restricted scale. There was rather more activity in freight.

The number of beef cattle received at all the yards for the week ending Tuesday evening, April 10, is 3,933, which is an unusually small number. This accounts for the fact that beef is about half a cent per lb. higher than it sold for last week. There was an active demand for good beef, and all the cattle were sold on Tuesday afternoon. The best beeves sold for 18c. ℔ lb., and the poorest at 13c. The general selling price was about 14½c.@15c. ℔ lb., dressed meat. The receipts of milch cows number 118 for the week, for which prices are easy and the demand moderate. The poorest have sold for $30, and the best milkers for $90@$110 each. Calves are in liberal supply, with prices easy for good ones at 12½c., while poor ones sell for what butchers see fit to pay, sometimes only 5c. ℔ lb., live weight. The number received is 1,384. The arrivals of sheep are comparatively light, being only 13,719 for the week, against 17,573 last week. The trade has been moderate, and prices easy at 5c.@8½c. ℔ lb., live weight. The number of live hogs received is 7,380, against 6,468 for the preceding week. Good hogs sell as fast as they arrive at 10c.@10½c. ℔ lb., live weight, and 12½c.@13c. dressed, with an upward tendency in prices, for hogs well fattened.

The Fisheries and the Attitude of the Parties Concerned.

It will be seen from the brief statement of the fishery question, and the accompanying resolutions in Congress, yesterday, that our Government has not receded, and does not intend to recede, one step from the position taken by Mr. Webster fifteen years ago, in regard to the fair and honest interpretation of the Convention of 1818. The treaty of 1854 solved the difficulty temporarily. The British Government at that time chose to make the question a Provincial instead of an Imperial question. And there is no indication that the British Government now will care to become involved anew in the defence of the questionable claims which grew out of the interpretation put by the Crown lawyers upon the Convention of 1818. There is a similar standing grievance, in regard to the claims of the Newfoundland fishermen, against France. And in the latter case, the colonists have not been backed up by the Parent Government. The matter in neither case, however, is one to provoke hostilities, as long as British Ministers take moderate and rational ground. The Queen's Government will send some war vessels to see that the peace is kept on the disputed maritime ground. Our Government will naturally send several vessels to the same quarter, and with the same end in view. As Mr. Raymond explained in the House, yesterterday, there is nothing of a belligerent character in the precautions on either side. There is, indeed, the best assurance of peace in these provisions against collision.

Meanwhile, from Nova Scotia we have intelligence that a Special Committee of the Assembly has reported in favor of the immediate purchase and equipment of a steamer to be employed in the protection of the fisheries of that Province. Coupled with this proposition is a recommendation that all the vessels commissioned for this service by the various provinces shall be empowered to act upon any portion of the coasts of British North America. The effect of this, if adopted, would be to form a petty provincial fleet, without the advantage attaching to some general responsibility, unless it be that of the commander dispatched by the British Government.

In this multiplication of official power, to be employed in circumstances in which the utmost circumspection and good temper are indispensable, consists the chief peril of the fishery question. And it is in view of the security for the maintenance of peace that would be afforded by the substitution of some authority representing the provinces as a whole, for the divided and mayhap conflicting authority of the provinces, acting separately, each on its own account, that we observe with pleasure the improved prospect of the Confederation project. The last two months appear to have brought about a remarkable change in the disposition of Nova Scotia, New-Brunswick and Newfoundland, in relation to what is known as the Quebec scheme. Opposition has disappeared, or is rapidly disappearing, and an earnest desire to accomplish a Union of some kind is visible almost everywhere. The chief difficulty still is in New-Brunswick, though even there defeat has overtaken the opponents of the measure.

The policy which prompts some of our cotemporaries to decry Confederation as something intended to be injurious to the United States, seems to us short-sighted. This country may gain much, but cannot lose anything, from the formation of an intelligent Union of the provinces, to take the place of the several petty Governments in all matters that can possibly concern ourselves. At present, we have we know not how many small Governments to deal with, each having its own tariff and administering its own laws. With Confederation accomplished, a uniformity of tariffs may be expected, and but one Government will engage our attention. The question of reciprocal trade may then be managed with greater ease, and with more satisfactory results; and such an affair as that of the fisheries will be entirely divested from the outset of any danger. On the ground of peaceful neighborhood, therefore, as well as of business advantage, we hold that this country is interested in the success of the Confederation scheme.

Meanwhile, we are satisfied the ardor of the minor provinces touching the fisheries will be restrained by the parent country. And, let what may happen, our Government will not be caught napping.

The Loan Bill.

The Loan Bill, as finally passed, falls far short of what it should have been to do justice to the Secretary of the Treasury or to meet the views of those who, like him, earnestly desire a speedy return to specie payments. It withholds power which that officer ought to have had conferred upon him, and it restricts the process of contraction within limits that render all apprehension of panic on that ground utterly absurd.

Nevertheless, the new law definitely enacts a very important principle, and lays the foundation of a policy which we hope hereafter to see applied with much greater vigor. It does not meet the reasonable requirements of Mr. Secretary McCulloch. But it frustrates the plans of the inflationists, and imposes restraint upon the currency of which prudent men cannot fail to take heed. The contraction possible within the year is so small that it will probably be exceeded by the addition to the National Bank circulation during the same period. But at any rate, the national policy is to be one of contraction, as opposed to expansion. So much at least is fixed by the bill. And to this extent it is a step in the right direction.

If anything else were wanted to reconcile the country to a measure in itself of comparatively little value, it would be found in the hostility shown at every stage of its progress through Congress by the advocates of a currency, which, though not avowedly inconvertible, would be rendered so by a constant addition to its issues. Not one of these ran so far counter to public opinion as to declare himself favorable to inconvertibility as a principle. On the contrary, every one of them professed a desire to promote a resumption of cash payments. But, aside from their professions, they were unitedly opposed, first, to the more comprehensive bill, which, in the main, reflected the views of the Secretary, and afterward to the harmless affair which went through the Senate on Monday. For their defeat, let us be grateful. In whatever aspect we are otherwise disappointed we know that the paper money men have received a timely rebuke, and the speculators a salutary warning. Both were sadly required to frustrate the teachings of those who confound the excitement of speculation with the activity of healthy enterprise, and mistake the flood of paper which precedes bankruptcy for the ease connected with genuine prosperity.

It is to be hoped that Congress, having affirmed a sound principle in regard to greenbacks, will not be unmindful of the danger that lurks beneath an unchecked development of the National Bank system.

The Southern Cotton Crop.—We hear from different parts of the South that though the cotton crop this year will be respectably large, the breadth planted will not equal the estimates of the more sanguine made some months ago. The emigration from the North during the last six months has been limited; and the number of Northern men who have gone into agricultural pursuits has been small. It is found, too, that though it may be broadly said that industry is organized and social affairs pretty well settled, there is still enough disarrangement to interfere with the placid and steady operations of labor. The State of Texas will probably give us the largest crop, and South Carolina the smallest, as compared with her product in the past. The central region of the latter State was so devastated and so profoundly ruined in the latter months of the war by the tread of armies, that even yet it has not been able to do much in the way of recovery. The City of Columbia, which used to be a central point in the cotton trade, is yet a complete wreck; and the rich region around it is still desolate. The lower country, too, is on the whole, in a bad way; and we do not anticipate very heavy returns in any kind of productions from South Carolina. Texas, on the other hand, not only suffered less than any other Southern State during the war, but since its close the common public interests have been less disturbed than elsewhere. The negroes there did not get "demoralized" as in other States, by the breaking up of society; and their transition from slavery to freedom was effected very easily and quietly.

Vain Regrets.—There are still men in England who, looking at the present power and prospects of this country, indulge in maledictions against Earl Russell's Government for its policy of non-interference in our war. One of this class declares that if England had made an alliance with Louis Napoleon for the recognition and support of the Confederacy, there would now be no such a thing as Fenianism to disturb the placid dreams of Her Majesty's subjects. But Lord Russell's policy "has reconstructed the American Union, and made those States the most stupendous and the most aggressive Power in the world." We are further told:

> "Had the counsel of the French Emperor been met with just appreciation and compliance, the States' army would now be what it then was—an army of raw recruits, without experienced officers, without the common knowledge or appliances of warfare; and their fleet, now said to be superior to our own, at that time blockading the Southern coasts, would have been swept from the face of the ocean. Her dockyards, being annihilated, could never have given existence to the formidable naval armaments with which she can now cover the ocean; and three separate and harmless nationalities would then have been formed from a territory which now, in one, threatens to be the terror of the world."

But why, oh, why, these vain regrets?

The Fenians.—The late abatement in the Fenian fever bids fair to be followed by a renewal of excitement on the arrival of James Stephens. This skillful and lucky man will presently be among us, and we shall doubtless have very enthusiastic demonstrations in his honor by our Irish fellow-citizens. How the Roberts Fenians will act, and continue to act, toward him, remains to be seen; and whether he will be able to stay the quarrel between the contending factions, cannot yet be told. There need be no apprehensions, however, that the Fenian leader will disturb the peace of this country, or embroil us in a foreign war, after he gets here. He may agitate for a while, as Kossuth and other exiles have done in other times; but he will be quite certain to subside very soon into a quiet and respectable citizen, obtaining his livelihood by honest labor of one kind or another, in Wall-street or the Bowery. We have hundreds of prominent European revolutionists in this City at this time, earning anywhere from twelve to twenty dollars a week, and unambitious of renown other than that which arises from honesty and industry.

The New-York Contested Election Case.—We give elsewhere the very able and exhaustive speech delivered in the House of Representatives, April 6, by Hon. Mr. Dawes, Chairman of the Committee on Elections, upon the case of Dodge vs. Brooks. This argument not only disposes of the case in question; it presents in a very clear light the principles generally governing the decision of these contested elections, and will well repay a careful perusal.

Picture Auctioneers.—The intent of our article on the auction sales of picture rubbish which abound in different parts of the City will have been greatly misapprehended if it is taken as reflecting upon any one of the few legitimate auctioneers, whose names are well accredited, and whose business is at once honorable and profitable.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

Washington, Tuesday, April 10.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

As there is much speculation concerning Jefferson Davis, and as there have recently been rumors of process being commenced to release him from confinement without a trial, it may be stated that the Secretary of War, in a letter dated Jan. 4, says that Jefferson Davis has not been arraigned upon indictment or formal charge of crime, but has been indicted for the crime of high treason by the Grand Jury of the District of Columbia, which indictment is now pending in the Supreme Court of said district. He is also charged with the crime of inciting the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, and with the murder of the Union prisoners of war by starvation, and other barbarous and cruel treatment toward them. The President deeming it expedient that Jefferson Davis should first be put upon his trial before a competent Court and Jury, for the crime of treason, he was advised by the law officers of the Government that the most proper place for such trial was in the State of Virginia; that State is within the judicial circuit assigned to the Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court, who has held no Court there since the apprehension of Davis, and who declines for an indefinite period to hold any Court there. The matters above stated are, so far as I am informed, the reasons for holding Jefferson Davis in confinement, and why he has not been put upon his trial. The Attorney-General of the United States expressed himself against the doctrine of "constructive presence," giving the opinion that Jefferson Davis and others of the insurgents ought to be tried in some of the States or districts in which they in person respectively committed the crimes with which they may be charged. None of the Justices of the Supreme Court have held Circuit Courts in these States and districts since actual hostilities ceased; and, he adds, when the Courts are open, and the laws can be peacefully administered and enforced in these States, whose people rebelled against the Government; when thus peace shall have come in fact and in law, the persons now held in military custody as prisoners of war, and who may not have been tried and convicted for offences against the laws of war, should be transferred into the custody of the civil authorities of the proper districts, to be tried for such high crimes and misdemeanors as may be alleged against them. I think that it is the plain duty of the President to cause criminal prosecutions to be instituted before the proper tribunals, and, at the proper times, against some of those who were mainly instrumental in inaugurating, and most conspicuous in conducting the late hostilities. It will be recollected that the President, in his annual Message, said that strong objections had been urged to holding those courts in any of those States where the rebellion has existed; and it was ascertained, by inquiry, that the Circuit Court of the United States would not be held in the District of Virginia during the Autumn or early Winter, nor until Congress should have an opportunity to consider and act on the whole subject. To the deliberation of Congress, he added, the restoration of this branch of the civil authority was necessarily referred, with the hope that early provision would be made for the resumption of all its functions, in order that persons charged with the commission of treason should have fair and impartial trials in the highest civil tribunals of the country. Congress has not yet, however, passed any act in accordance with this recommendation to remove the objections of Chief Justice Chase, and here the matter rests for the present.

The Judiciary Committee of the House has appointed a sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. Boutwell, Rogers and Wilson, to examine the records in possession of the Bureau of Military Justice and other departments of the Government, with reference to the alleged complicity of Jeff. Davis in the assassination plot.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The President has approved and signed the Deficiency Appropriation Bill. Among the items are the following: To enable the Lighthouse Board to reëstablish lights and other aids to navigation discontinued by the enemy on the Southern coast, $100,000; for refurnishing and repairing the President's house, $46,000, in addition to $8,000 for repairing it inside and out; for defraying the expenses incident to the death and burial of Abraham Lincoln, $30,000; for the purchase of Ford's Theatre, (the scene of the assassination,) $100,000.

The act gives the Secretary of the Treasury authority to sell the property known as the Pennsylvania Bank building, provided it shall not be for a sum less than $110,000.

THE FISHING GROUNDS.

It is understood that the Government has sent one or two armed vessels to the fishing grounds on the coast of the British Provinces to protect our fishermen there, who have been warned off by the Provincials since the cessation of the Reciprocity Treaty. The British Government has expressed a willingness to allow everything to go on on the basis of the convention of 1818, or on the basis existing prior to the existence of the Reciprocity Treaty, which enables our vessels to fish anywhere within a marine league of the shore. The matter will be the subject of fresh negotiations, and Mr. Raymond to-day reported from the Committee on Foreign Affairs a resolution of inquiry directed to the President looking to that end.

THE BANKRUPT BILL.

The Bankrupt Bill came up in the House to-day as the special order after the morning hour, on the motion to reconsider, and after a rather acrimonious debate, with an apparent prospect of its passage, it was finally killed by three majority.

SENATOR M'DOUGALL.

Senator McDougall this morning received, while in his seat in the Senate, a magnificent basket of flowers arranged with exquisite taste. Attached to the present was a card on which was written in chirography indicating that it emanated from a lady, "To Senator McDougall, from a worshiper of the God of light and beauty." The donor had evidently read or heard of Mr. McDougall's admirable classic rebuke of Senator Wade, on Friday last, when the latter, as Mr. McDougall expressed it, invoked the aid of the God of darkness to assist in the passage of the Civil Rights Bill over the veto.

TRANSPORTATION OF PETROLEUM, NAPTHA, ETC.

As anticipated in our dispatches a few days ago, the Secretary of the Treasury has decided that crude petroleum, naptha, benzine and benzole, are to be classed among the explosive burning fluids, and a circular is issued to collectors of customs and other officers, directing that after the 1st of May a special license be required for transporting those fluids, as provided in the steamboat act of August, 1830.

THE GRADE OF GENERAL.

Mr. Deming to-day reported the bill to revive the grade of General in the Army. Of course it is so framed as to point directly at and limits it to Gen. Grant. The pay is fixed at $400 per month, with the allowances of a lieutenant-general. He is entitled to a chief of staff with the rank of brigadier-general in the regular army, and six aids with the rank and pay of colonels of cavalry.

PRACTICAL WORKING OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

A feature was to-day observed in the galleries of the Senate and House which is construed as the practical working of the Civil Rights Bill. Heretofore, as the negroes approached the doors, the assistant doorkeepers designated seats for them, and which were set apart for colored persons, singularly enough upon the suggestion of Senators of the Radical persuasion, whose ladies and their lady companions had complained that there was not enough of classification of spectators, and that their olfactories were offended by the African odor. To-day, the colored people were permitted to take seats wheresoever they found them vacant, and the consequence was that the negroes were found seated in the heretofore select spots where only the fair ladies of the country were admitted. As the doorkeepers construe the Civil Rights Bill, they dare not refuse a negro a seat wherever the white spectator is allowed to go.

THE REIGN OF DULLNESS.

Both Houses of Congress were unusually dull to-day, and in all political circles there seemed to be a reaction from the suspense and excitement which has prevailed for the past few days. Matters of legislation were dull, and the Army Bill promises to be the only interesting feature of the week, the Loan Bill having passed the Senate, the Tax Bill not being ready, and the Reconstruction Committee still laboring, with a poor prospect of bringing forth anything for some time.

TREATY WITH THE WINNEBAGO INDIANS.

The President has proclaimed the treaty made between the United States and the Winnebago Indians. This tribe convey to the Government all their right, title and interest in their present reservation in the Territory of Dakotah. In consideration of this the United States cede land to them in Nebraska, and agree to subsist them for one year in their new home, and furnish them with saw and grist mills and agricultural implements, guns, horses, and whatever may be necessary to their domestic comfort.

APPLICATIONS FOR PARDONS.

It has been reliably ascertained that applications have been made and are now pending for pardon by 86 ex-members of the rebel Congress, 132 ex-graduates of West Point, but who served in the rebel army, 127 rebel Generals, including Bragg, Longstreet, Beauregard, and several of the Lees; and also 32 prominent ex-rebel officials, and 116 ex-United States officers who held positions in the rebel service.

THE CHARLESTON GAS WORKS.

There was an important omission in our statement with regard to the Charleston Gas Works. It should have been stated that the condition upon which the Works were ordered to be given up were that the loyal claimants who had been deprived of their stock by the Confederate Court had been restored to their original status, and placed on the company's books as owners of the stock originally held by them, and that security had been given by a deposit with Duncan, Sherman & Co. for the payment of dividends which had accrued and unpaid to them since they were deprived of their rights.

THE OVERLAND MAIL.

The Post-Office Department has made a contract to run another Overland Mail from the Western terminus of the Eastern end of the Union Pacific Railroad by way of Smoky Hills to Denver City and thence to California. This gives two daily lines across the Plains. The service is to be commenced on the 16th inst. by Holliday's Overland Mail Company.

PARDONS.

The President to-day signed an order granting pardons to thirteen Louisians, one South Carolinans and one Alabamian. All under the twenty thousand dollar clause.

THE SEA ISLANDS.

The Superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau at the Sea Islands reports to the Commissioner that the number of contracts made by him or the military authorities on Edisto, Wadmalaw, John's, and James Islands, South Carolina, during the month of March, 1866, was 55, including 2,388 freed people. Many more contracts have been made which were not reported from the different islands in season to be embraced in the report of the Superintendent. Requisitions have been received at the Freedmen's Bureau for about 300 freedmen to go to Arkansas and Mississippi. This demand increases the number to be furnished, for which requisitions have been made, to over 700 persons. No freedmen or women need now be idle, because of scarcity of employment. There is a plenty to do, and owing to the want of laborers in the South and Southwest planters are paying very liberal wages.

INSPECTION OF STEAMBOATS.

The Secretary of Treasury has just issued the following circular to Collectors and other officers of the Customs, and to Supervising and local Inspectors of Steamboats:

Treasury Department, Saturday, April 7.

Upon careful consideration, based upon the reports of practical chemists, I am of the opinion that crude petroleum, naptha, benzine and benzole should be classed among the explosive burning fluids referred to in the seventh and eighth sections of the Steamboat Act of August 30, 1862. Therefore, on and after the first day of May next, no vessel propelled in whole or in part by steam, and carrying passengers, will be permitted to transport either of the articles above named without having first procured a special license therefor, as provided by the fifth clause of the ninth section of the act above referred to. A failure to procure such license subjects the delinquent to the penalty imposed by the 25th section of the same act.

H. McCULLOCH,
Secretary of the Treasury.

SERENADING THE SPEAKER—AN EXCITING SPEECH.

Speaker Colfax was serenaded to-night at his residence, by citizens of Indiana, who had already been paying a like compliment to Senator Lane of that State. Mr. Colfax, in acknowledging the compliment, said:

I have no doubt that you, like myself, rejoice with exceeding great joy, and are prouder to-day of being citizens of this great country than ever before. There was a time, in this land of ours, when Slavery was regarded as the corner-stone of American institutions. Thank God! that time has passed and we build, henceforth, on a foundation of liberty. [Applause.] To-day, under the legislation of the American Congress, in the great Republic, shaped by the geography of a continent and washed by the water of the two great oceans of the globe, there is no person, rich or poor, high or humble, learned or unlearned, who does not live in security under the protection of equal laws. [Applause.] I am prouder to-day, also, of the great Union organization of which I have been a member than ever before. Its history is nobly written in the history of our country. Administrations and Congress and parties may pass away, but the record which this great party has made will shine with greater glory on our country's pages than any other in the annals of our history. When the great rebellion broke out, and when our Ship of State rocked in a fearful storm, and was threatened by a terrible mutiny, the Union organization stood unflinchingly by our noble President, martyred Lincoln, in his determination to crush the conspiracy and preserve the Government intact; and when it prophesied to us by false tongue, and at the same time shouted "No coercion!"—that the rebellion could not be subjugated—the Union-loving people of the country, forming into a mighty phalanx, determined that it should be. When your armies needed reinforcements they took voluntarily upon themselves the odium of conscription laws and drafts, because they were necessary for the country. When the Treasury needed to be filled, they took upon themselves the responsibility and odium of tax laws, that our flag might be kept flying in the field. They did this relying upon the justice of their cause, and went before the people and triumphed. The enactments of that great party are imperishable. In 1862 the capital was disgraced by slavery, but they determined that henceforth it should be free, and with unwavering fidelity to principle they placed upon the statute book that law which never can be and never shall be repealed, that in this capital there should be no slave. (Applause.) In 1863 our noble and great-hearted President issued his Proclamation of Emancipation, striking with the battle-axe of the Union that powerful element of rebel strength, and the Union party stood by him, determined to give that proclamation vitality, as they had an endorsement of the people in the Winter of 1864 and 1865. When the Constitutional Amendment was proposed in Congress, banishing Slavery forever from the country as an unclean thing, and declaring that henceforth and forever it should be the home of the free, that great organization again and unitedly rallied to its support, and placed that amendment on the statute book. It is now the supreme law of the land. (Cheers.) Again, in the great year 1866, in the Senate Chamber and in the Representative Hall, they have placed by overwhelming majorities that Civil Rights Bill on your statute book, which declares every one born on American soil shall have a birthright as an American citizen. (Cheers.) That law, misrepresented as it has been by its opponents in Congress, will never be repealed, and in the years that are to come, it will be the proudest recollection and crowning honor of those men who stood up in the national councils that they gave to the American Magna Charta their cordial support. And why should there be objections to a law like that? Every one born on the soil of the Republic owes to it allegiance, and is it not the reciprocal duty of the Republic to give to him its protection?

Henceforth whenever in this land a person shall be oppressed or outraged, or his rights withheld; whenever tyranny may make his sceptre over him, he has but to turn to the national flag and to the National Government for that protection which the Congress of the United States has ordained is his right. [Applause.] We are sometimes asked (and I know with what solicitude the American people regard it) why the work of reconstruction has been delayed. I do not think it has been unreasonably delayed. The President of the United States in the eight months between the collapse of the rebellion and the opening of this Congress was engaged in the work of that policy which seemed to him the most fitting, and Congress has been engaged for the past four months in collecting testimony, in comparing opinions, and in action to lay the foundation of that plan of reconstruction, which shall make our Union eternal as the ages. [Applause.] But they have already, in past years, initiated a policy of reconstruction in 1862. They placed on the statute book the first law indicating their policy of reconstruction, the law known as the test oath, declaring that no man should be eligible who could not swear that he had not voluntarily given aid and comfort to bloody conspiracy and treason. That law was well understood by the American people, South as well as North. No one expected that then, when the rebellion had its armies in the field against the Union any one would come knocking at the door of Congress, claiming to represent the States of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South or North Carolina, Florida or Texas. But it was believed that, when when the rebellion should end, the men who had insultingly turned their backs on Congress and spurned their seats, who had killed the Union's defenders and sought to capture this Capital, would, with the assurance of old times, demand that they should govern the country which they had ineffectually attempted to ruin. That test oath was placed there as the flaming sword at the Garden of Eden, to warn such men that till there were fruits meet for repentance, or bonds for future good behavior, there was no place in those precincts for them. [Cheers.] Again the policy of reconstruction was indicated by Congress in the Winter of 1864, when it passed, nearly unanimously, and without the yeas and nays, a joint resolution that the Vice President, in counting the Presidential vote, should not count the electoral votes of any State that had been engaged in the rebellion. That was intended to proclaim that until Congress removed their disqualifications by laws, restoring them to their rights, they should stand back. Congress has, therefore, by these two striking enactments, indicated its policy of reconstruction. But the Constitution has a still plainer language declaring where the responsibility of reconstruction should rest; it has declared that every State shall guaranteed a republican form of government, and in a subsequent section it declares that Congress shall have power to make all laws necessary and proper to carry into execution all the powers vested in it or in any department of officers of the Government. This was intended to declare that Congress is the only law-making power of this land, and by the Constitution to Congress, and Congress alone, all must look for legalized reconstruction. [Cheers.] The President of the United States, in his proclamation last May, appointing Provisional Governors, declared the States which had been in rebellion were without Civil Government. That was a fact as palpable as the stars when they shone in heavens. My regret is, for I must speak frankly, that Congress was not at that time called together, I believe it would have hastened the work of reconstruction. I believe that Congress and the President by his approval of their legislation, would have united, last Summer on a policy of reconstruction, which would have been acceptable to both branches of the Government, and in which the South, seeing this concurrent action, would have acquiesced. The Constitution of the United States declares that the President on extraordinary occasions may convene Congress; it has already seemed to me that last April was an extraordinary occasion. The President had been murdered by a rebel conspirator, and the Vice-President had assumed the Presidential functions; the rebellion had seen its flag trampled in the dust, and its armies surrendered. It seemed to me if there ever was an "Extraordinary occasion" this was one. But the President, and I recognize his full constitutional authority to decide the question; deemed that it was not expedient to call Congress together, and went on himself with the work of reconstruction. I believe he entered upon and proceeded with that work patriotically, and that he thought as an experiment, it would be best to test it before Congress reassembled. I am confirmed in that belief by the messages which he sent to the Governors of Florida and Mississippi, stating that their restoration would depend on Congres; but I do not think that resulted in developing loyalty at the South. Congress at last convened on the first Monday of December last. It could not convene earlier, for it had no power to meet until its regular session, unless convened by the President. It appointed a committee to examine into the condition of the late Confederate States, and it was only one short month ago they received official documents from the Executive Department, which enabled them to know what transpired during the long recess of Congress, and now it is able to act intelligently, with some official knowledge of the situation. You will ask, perhaps, what is my policy of reconstruction. I will tell you in a few words. It is the policy of reconstruction laid down by Andrew Johnson with such emphasis and earnestness in his speeches made to the public between the month of June, 1864, and the month of May, 1865. (Cheers.) I indorse the sentiments proclaimed by him in Nashville the night he was nominated as Vice President. I indorse the sentiments proclaimed by him in the capital the day when the news of the surrender of Lee's army was received. I indorse the sentiments uttered by him to various committees upon his entering the Presidency. I learned those sentiments from him, and cannot we learn that now; I believed in them then and believe in them still. They showed his construction of the Baltimore Platform, and higher still, of his feelings of duty to the country. His radical speeches in Tennessee were endorsed by his election, and I stand by those declarations, yet they can be condensed into one single sentence, and that is, "Loyal men shall govern a preserved Republic." [Cheers.] I stand by that doctrine; the Congress of the United States stands by that doctrine. It will prevail, and in the policy of reconstruction which shall be adopted. If we are faithful to ourselves, if we are faithful to this country, if we are faithful to the brave men who went forth from their happy homes to die for the salvation of the country, we will proclaim in our legislation, as Andrew Johnson proclaimed at Nashville, "Loyal men shall govern a preserved Republic."

Loud and continued cheers were indulged in for Speaker Colfax, and some one called for three cheers for Andrew Johnson. The band and Indianianians accompanying them visited all the other Union members of the Indiana delegation serenading them and hearing speeches from each, which were enthusiastically applauded.

Celebration of the Mobile Fire Department—A Toast to Jefferson Davis.

MOBILE, Tuesday, April 10.

A grand anniversary celebration of the Fire Department of Mobile occurred yesterday, and passed off splendidly. The enthusiasm was unbounded. After the ovation, the members of the Fire Department, the City authorities and a few invited guests partook of a collation. Among the toasts was the following:

The President of the United States—The first fearless patriot; the friend of those who support his policy, the enemy of those who oppose it.

This was responded to by Mayor WITHERS, who paid a lofty and eloquent tribute to the patriotism and statesmanship of the people's President, ANDREW JOHNSON. He thanked God that such a man occupied the position.

Maj. WATHUN being called on for a sentiment, said: I rise, Mr. Chairman, to propose a sentiment, which, I think should not be omitted on any occasion of this kind. I mean no treason, nor do I mean to revive any memories of the past, which ought to be dead and buried. I simply offer the health of a distinguished gentleman, I give you, therefore, Sir:

"JEFFERSON DAVIS, soldier, statesman, patriot, prisoner. Our tongues may be mute, but our hearts are with him."

LOUISIANA.

Condition of the Crevasses—The Methodist Conference—The Cotton Market.

NEW-ORLEANS, Monday, April 9.

Arrived, steamers George Cromwell and Merrimac, from New-York.

Attacks in this city by slung-shot and the robbing of citizens is becoming of daily occurrence.

Many lunatics and robbers are abroad, who were released from asylums and prisons during the war, and who come here from all parts of the country.

The lower crevasse is being closed, but the upper one is too wide to close. The ends of the levees are being secured.

The Methodist Conference is discussing the Episcopal vetoes.

The union in prayer with the Methodists of the City of New-York was generally observed on Sunday in all the Methodist churches of this city.

In the Board of Freeholders, which last year was a tie, the Unionists have now ten majority.

NEWARK, Tuesday, April 10.

In the townships of Essex County, which held their elections yesterday, the result is the same as last Spring, except in Milburn, where the Democrats gain one Freeholder. The new Board will stand 22 Republicans to 12 Democrats. The dispatch sent to the evening papers gives a wrong impression of the facts.

TRENTON, Tuesday, April 10.

FRANKLIN S. MILLS, Democrat, for Mayor, and the whole Democratic ticket, was elected yesterday by an average majority of 300.

EASTON, Penn., Tuesday, April 10.

At the charter election at Phillipsburgh, N. J., today, JESSE F. CARHART, Union, was elected Mayor over LEWIS C. REESE, Democrat, by 181 majority.

CHARTER ELECTION IN HUDSON COUNTY.

The charter election for City Officers took place yesterday in Jersey City, Hoboken, and Hudson City, and although conducted in a spirited manner, excellent order was maintained. Hoboken and Hudson City elected Democratic Mayors.

In Jersey City the contest between ORESTES CLEVELAND (Dem.) and DANIEL McLEOD (Republican) for the mayoralty is very close, and at a late hour last night it was believed that Mr. McLEOD was the successful candidate. The canvass in some of the wards will not be completed until some time this (Wednesday) forenoon.

The total vote cast was 4,852, being an increase of 774 votes over one year ago, (when Mr. CLEVELAND was elected by 516 majority,) and 518 votes less than was cast at the last Presidential election.

In the Fourth Ward, RICHARD A. WOOD is undoubtedly elected over WM. H. KAFEW, for Alderman, which will be a Republican gain.

In the Second Ward (strongly Democratic) at 11 o'clock last night, EDGE, (Dem.,) for Alderman, was 14 ahead, and CLEVELAND was 57 majority over McLEOD.

Yesterday afternoon and evening $1,000 to $800 was freely offered on McLEOD with no takers.

Fenian Reports.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Herald.

EASTPORT, Me., Tuesday, April 10.

The British war ship Pylades arrived here yesterday, and went to St. Andrews.

The British Consul and the United States Marshal are at Maybee's Hotel, also prominent Fenians.

Communication between St. John and the Western towns on the British side, was destroyed last night by the Fenians.

The garrison at Campo Bello has been increased. Earthworks were being thrown up all day yesterday.

The Fenian convention is sitting. The hotels and boarding-houses are crammed with Fenians, who arrived from New-York to-day.

The inhabitants are "skedaddling" from the border and coming here.

Firing of small arms and rockets is continually occurring, and there is a perfect panic. There is a bad feeling on either side of the bay.

Two more English war-ships are reported steaming to the northeastern headland of Campo Bello.

A Fenian vessel with howitzers and other arms, was not allowed to go out of the harbor at 12 o'clock last night by order of the Officer of Customs, it is supposed, in the English interest.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Tuesday, April 10.

Information regarding the Fenians is of such a nature as to warrant the authorities here in placing the frontier in a more effectual state of defence. Last night some men, ninety in number, endeavored to ship sixty cases of rifles and thirty cases of small arms from Portland for Eastport, which is opposite Campo Bello. The agent of the steamer refused to receive the arms, but the men came on to Eastport. Troops and a gunboat have been ordered from St. John to Campo Bello. One company of volunteers left Woodstock last night, and another starts this evening from this place for St. Andrews.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Tuesday, April 10.

The Lower House met this afternoon for a few minutes. The Attorney-General announced that the Government had tendered their resignation, and were awaiting a reply. The Governor is expected to send in his answer to-night. In the meantime, he has chosen Mr. WILMOT, of the Opposition, to form a new Government.

Amusements.

MISS BATEMAN TO-NIGHT.—On Monday night MISS BATEMAN played Pauline to a very fair house in Brooklyn. She was well supported, and the entertainment was a success. To-night she plays Bianca, in the "Italian Wife," with the same company. This will be her last appearance in Brooklyn for a long time, and affords an excellent opportunity for those who have enjoyed her Leah to judge of her ability in other lines.

MISS KELLOGG'S BENEFIT.—Its always pleasant to say a good word for those who deserve it. Miss KELLOGG appeals to her Brooklyn friends to-morrow night for a benefit. She has served them faithfully and zealously, has given an infinite amount of pleasure and added zest to every entertainment, and it would be a sad commentary on Brooklyn gratitude and appreciation if on this occasion the house is not packed from parquette to amphitheatre. The opera is "Fra Diavolo," with KELLOGG, MAZZOLENI and BELLINI in the cast, and of itself should draw a large audience.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

The Tribune's Anniversary Dinner—A Present to Frederick Hudson of the Herald.

The Tribune, following the example of THE TIMES, has enlarged its borders, and now appears upon a sheet the size of our own. Last evening the beginning of the twenty-fifth volume was celebrated by a dinner at DELMONICO'S, where were gathered about sixty of the former and present employes in the leading departments of the paper. The only guest in no way now nor heretofore employed by the concern was the venerable PETER COOPER. (Some profane joker suggests that the renowned PETER might have made the glue that mixed with the molasses that made the rollers that inked the plates that printed the Tribune.) Mr. GREELEY occupied the chair, and among the hosts and guests were Samuel Sinclair, Sidney H. Gay, George Ripley, Solon Robinson, George W. Smalley, Stephen T. Clarke, Prof. A. J. Schem, Frederick Crane, John R. Young, Clarence Cook, Clarkson Taber, Nathan D. Urner, William Winter, Thomas N. Rooker and Patrick O'Rourke, of the present active force; and of those formerly on the paper were Thomas McElrath, Oliver Johnson, George W. Snow, Bayard Taylor, Franklin Ottarson, Augustus Maverick, John F. Cleveland, Robert M. Strebeigh, Isaac W. England, William E. Robinson, George W. Curtis, Prof. E. Youmans, Robert Carter, Charles E. Wilbour, Edward H. House, William Stuart, Edmund C. Stedman and several whose names do not now occur to us.

After due attention to the viands, which were DELMONICO'S best, BAYARD TAYLOR read letters of excuse for non-attendance from HENRY J. RAYMOND, CHAS. A. DANA, CHAS. T. CONGDON, SAMUEL WILKESON and THEODORE TILTON. Mr. CONGDON made most touching allusions to the dead of the Tribune—the late MARGARET FULLER D'OSSOLI, WILLIAM HENRY FRY and RICHARD HILDRETH.

Mr. GREELEY being called for, gave a very interesting account of his early efforts in New-York, up to the full establishment of the Tribune. In the course of his remarks Mr. GREELEY said that the first man employed in the editorial department, after the Tribune started, was Mr. HENRY J. RAYMOND, then just graduated from college. He was a zealous worker—indeed, said Mr. GREELEY, he was the only man I remember to whom I felt impelled to say: "You are working too hard."

Mr. GREELEY left, and Mr. GEORGE RIPLEY took the chair. Some remarks were made by WM. E. ROBINSON, and a very excellent speech by GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS; after which THOMAS McELRATH, the first and for some years the only partner of Mr. GREELEY in the establishing of the Tribune, alluding to the gentlemen originally engaged upon that paper, said that HENRY J. RAYMOND, who was the associate editor with Mr. GREELEY, contributed greatly toward securing the recognition of that journal as a leading newspaper of the day. He spoke of Mr. RAYMOND as an able and graphic reporter, who possessed the faculty of presenting to his readers a pen-picture of events as they transpired, in a manner scarcely ever equaled by any journalist. Mr. McELRATH alluded particularly to the reports made by Mr. RAYMOND of the celebrated Colt murder case, which, at the time occupied the attention of the whole country, and also to the equally celebrated Mackenzie trial. These cases were sketched at length in the columns of the Tribune by Mr. RAYMOND, in an elaborate and attractive manner. Mr. McELRATH said that these reports added several thousand subscribers to their list during the pendency of the trials, and that nearly all who were thus induced to become patrons of that paper, continued until the journal became an established institution.

Mr. McELRATH was followed by PETER COOPER, GEORGE RIPLEY, SAM. SINCLAIR, GEO. W. SMALLEY, T. N. ROOKER, and others representing every department of the paper.

The gathering was in some sort an alumni meeting, since a considerable proportion of the company were graduates from the Tribune, and gratefully recognize, in whatever sphere they may now be, their sturdy Alma Mater.

Testimonial to Frederic Hudson, Esq., of the New-York Herald.

At a special meeting of the New-York Herald Club, 9th inst., Mr. FREDERIC HUDSON, its President, was made the recipient of a very elegant testimonial, consisting of a gold watch, chain, and a beautifully bound book containing an address with the autographs of all the members of the Club.

The watch was one of JURGENSEN's unwatched chronometers, and cost $800. The only inscription it bears is the following, engraved on the interior of the case:

"Presented to FREDERIC HUDSON, Esq., by the New-York Herald Club. May, 1866."

The book is a gem in its way. The address is most artistically engrossed upon six large pages of vellum, with appropriate illustrations, bound in heavy moroco, richly ornamented and panelled. In the centre of the front cover, a piece of the corner-stone of the new Herald building finely polished, and in oval form, is inserted, and around it in gilt letters is inscribed:

"Piece of the corner-stone of the new Herald Building.
"Labor Ipse Voluptas."

Above and below this oval is the same inscription as that engraved upon the watch.

The presentation took place in one of the large rooms attached to the editorial department of the Herald. Mr. HUDSON was presiding, and P. B. CONNERY officiating as Secretary. The compliment was entirely unexpected by the recipient, therefore proving the more agreeable and acceptable.

JOHN J. RYAN, Vice President of the Club, made the presentation, and the following address:

TO FREDERICK HUDSON, Esq.

The members of the New-York Herald Club learning that you are about to retire for a brief season from the establishment in which you have so zealously and successfully labored for more than a quarter of a century, desire to present you with a testimonial of their affectionate esteem. Some of the members of this Club, of which you are the honored President, have been associated with you for many years, others but a few months, but all deeply appreciate and admire those sterling qualities of mind and heart which have made you a good man, an unrivalled journalist, and at once the exemplar and friend of all those who have been under your charge in the literary departments of the Herald.

In choosing the testimonial, of which we beg your acceptance, we have endeavored to select something appropriate to your character. The chronometer, which will suggest punctuality, which has been one of the guiding rules of your life, and its intrinsic value, and the absence of all tawdry ornamentation, fully represent the worth and the modesty that have always distinguished you. The chain is emblematic of that firm bond which unites you indissolubly to all your associates. The book, which contains these words, has set within its cover a piece of the corner-stone of the New-York Herald building, which must stand not only as a monument to the genius of JAMES GORDON BENNETT, but as a memorial of the unflagging industry unremitting labor, unequaled energy, and unsurpassed ability, with which you have assisted to build up an institution that has now achieved colossal proportions. And when, during your absence from us, this testimonial recalls us to your mind, do not forget that you have our most sincere wishes for your complete restoration to health, for your speedy return, and for your future welfare.

The address is signed by the officers and members of the Club.

Mr. HUDSON, who was very much affected during the reading of the address, briefly responded, saying that all that was expressed in it in regard to the feeling entertained towards him, he fully and heartily reciprocated towards every member of the Club. In his association with its members he had had no rough passages. For the many years he had been connected with the establishment everything had gone on smoothly from the beginning to the end. The handsome compliment that had been paid to him was all the more gratifying from its being entirely unexpected.

Fires.

IN NASSAU-STREET.

About 9 o'clock last night a fire broke out on the third floor of No. 66 Nassau-street, occupied by E. THOMA, manufacturing jeweler. The flames originated from the forge. Damage to stock, $200. Damage to building, $125. Both losses covered by insurance. The fire was extinguished by the insurance patrol and the Second Ward Police.

IN RIVINGTON-STREET.

At 8.10 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was given, occasioned by flames being seen at No. 12 Rivington-street, which were caused by the explosion of a kerosene oil-lamp. The fire was soon extinguished. Loss about $50.

THE TURF.

Trotting on the Fashion Course, L. I.—The First Race of the Season.

The Fashion Course, Long Island, was visited yesterday by a fair attendance of the lovers of trotting and those interested in fast horses to witness a trot for a stake of $1,500, mile heats, best three in five, in harness. It was the first contest of the season, although not regarded as the legitimate opening of the Spring campaign, which will be inaugurated next Tuesday by a trot for the first of the series of purses given by the proprietor. The occasion, however brought together many of the old habitués of the trotting track, and their reunion after the long Winter's recess was the subject of mutual congratulation, and elicited expressions of satisfaction and pleasure at the commencement of another season of sport and active excitement. The day was fine and favorable, although the somewhat chilly air showed that Winter still lingered in the lap of Spring. The track itself was in far better condition than is usual at this early season of the year, but the going was heavy notwithstanding. There were three horses entered for the race, which was a sweepstakes of $500 each, viz.; Mr. CONREY's b. m. Lady Jones, Mr. THANEY's g. g. Stevens, and Mr. CLARKSON's b. g. Rockland Boy. The latter was made the favorite in the pool sales speculation, at first selling for more than the other two combined, but afterwards there was so strong a desire manifested by some shrewd turf frequenters to invest their greenbacks on Lady Jones that she quickly became as great a favorite as Rockland Boy. It was known that she was the speedier of the two, but it was the general opinion that his supposed superior steadiness would give him a great advantage over her. In one of the last pools sold Rockland Boy brought $18, Lady Jones $16, and Stevens $12.

First Heat—After two false attempts to get off fairly, the judges gave the word at the third essay, Lady Jones getting half a length the best of the send off, and the gray, who was on a break, a full length behind. Rockland Boy broke before they had gone fifty yards, and his driver could not get him down until approaching the quarter pole, which the bay mare passed two lengths ahead of him, and Stevens six lengths behind the others, and on a continued break. Lady Jones kept gradually but surely widening the gap, for all the efforts of the Rockland Boy's driver could not keep him down, and at the half-mile pole she was three lengths in front. On the third quarter Rockland Boy trotting fast, began to decrease the interval between himself and the Lady, but breaking again, he could not be got down until coming up the home stretch, close to the distance stand, and the mare crossed the score three lengths ahead of him. The gray only just managed to save his distance. Time 3:01.

After a brief consultation, the judges announced that Lady Jones won the heat and the race, the other horses being distanced for running. This totally unlooked-for decision was received with loud and demonstrative expressions of dissatisfaction by the Rockland Boy and Stevens partisans, but with hearty approval and applause by those who were interested in the success of the Lady.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

HORSE THIEVES.—Officer LYONS, of the Tenth Precinct, arrested THOMAS GALVIN, on a charge of larceny, preferred against him by HORACE A. FULLER, residing at No. 193 Bowery, who stated in the Essex Market Police Court, when the prisoner was arraigned, that he had stolen five horses and a light wagon, valued at $1,100, from GEO. METCALF, of Louisville, Ky., where he was hired to take charge of the animals. The accused was held for examination. Officer HARRIS, of the Eighteenth Precinct, arrested EUGENE LOCKWOOD on a charge of having stolen a horse, saddle and bridle, valued at $185, from MARTIN BRINS, No. 171 East Eleventh-street. It appeared from the affidavits filed in the Jefferson Police Court, that the accused went to the complainant in June last, at his stables at No. 220 East Twenty-fourth-street, and stated that he wished to purchase a horse. The animal stolen was exhibited to him, and afterward saddled to enable him to try its speed and action. He mounted and rode round the block, and was not seen again until yesterday, when he was arrested. The prisoner was committed for trial in default of bail.

NEW-YORK JUVENILE ASYLUM.—At the monthly meeting of the Juvenile Asylum, at the House of Reception, in Thirteenth-street, Wednesday evening, 5th inst., the following was reported as the operations for the month of March: Children in the House of Reception March 1, 135; committed by Magistrates, 36; surrendered by parents and friends, 24—total 195. Discharged by Magistrates, 18; sent to the House of Refuge, 2; sent to the Asylum, 76—total 99; in the House April 1, 99; weekly average, 120. Children in the Asylum March 1, 444; received from House of Reception, 76—total 520. Discharged and indentured, 57; in the Asylum April 1, 463; average for the month, 457. A company of 26 children, selected after careful training, was sent to Western homes, under the care of the Indenturing Agent, and 6 children indentured in this vicinity. The children are in excellent physical condition, and their conduct is very satisfactory. The state of health is most remarkable, there has not been a death in the House of Reception of the Asylum with a family of 600 in 28 months.

THE DEPOSIT SYSTEM OF INSURANCE.—The Metropolitan Insurance Company, No. 108 Broadway, have adopted a system of insuring dwelling-houses which appears to possess many advantages. The assured is required, on the issuing of the policy, to deposit with the company such sum as may be agreed on, not to exceed the aggregate of ten annual premiums, which remains as a permanent deposit so long as the property stands, and the party desires to continue the insurance. If the property be sold, it is provided that the insurance shall still hold good for sixty days longer, in order to give time to make the necessary change in the policy. Whenever the assured shall elect to terminate the insurance, or the same shall be terminated by sale as above mentioned, the assured will be entitled to receive back the whole sum deposited, less five per cent., which, with the interest, constitutes the premium reserved by the company. Insurance by this method is obviously cheaper, as well as more convenient, than that at present in vogue.

SONG OF THE ACCIDENT INSURED.

O, yes, 'twas a terrible smash-up!—what fright
When the car thundered down on our own in that night!
What a shatt'ring of limbs as the Giant of Steam,
Like a thunderbolt, wakened each one from his dream!
What a ruin spread round as we crept from the lair,
Shrieking out for some help 'mid the awful despair!

For myself, when released, I was but a sad wreck;
Aye, as crushed as a tar on his storm-battled wreck,
As you see by these bandaged-up arms, and this leg
That cannot for a month yet move onward a peg:
But in spite of all pain through this sick chamber's time,
I've a smile that you just have called "truly sublime."

Stop a bit!—would you know why I take it so cool?
'Twas because that for once I did not play the fool,
But before taking passage a Policy took
In the United States Accident Insurance Book,*
And now, though I'm laid up awhile is most true,
Yet I've not with my pain any money-loss, too!

No! the surgeon is paid, with each family need;
And from every expense by my prudence I'm freed:
Yes, in fact, to the music of dollars still mine,
I shall soon take my way to my old business shrine.
My dear friend, O, that all in this rough world of chance
To that Accident Office, like me, would advance!

SECOND VOLUME OF LANGE'S COMMENTARY.
PUBLISHED THIS DAY,
BY CHARLES SCRIBNER & CO.,
No. 124 Grand-st., New-York.

SECOND VOLUME OF LANGE'S COMMENTARY, containing MARK. Edited by Rev. Dr. W. G. T. SHEDD; and LUKE, edited by Rev. Dr. C. C. STARBUCK. 1 vol., Royal octavo. $5.

ALSO NOW READY,
THE SIXTH EDITION OF LANGE'S COMMENTARY ON MATTHEW.

Translated from the German, and edited, with additions, original and selected, by PHILIP SCHAFF, D. D., in connection with American Divines of various evangelical denominations. Containing a general introduction, and the Gospel according to Matthew. Price $5.

The American edition is undertaken by an association of well-known scholars from the leading evangelical denominations of this country, under the editorial care and responsibility of Dr. Schaff, of New-York, and with the full approbation of Dr. Lange. It gives the original entire, without omission or alteration, and at the same time valuable additions, which give the work an Anglo-German character, and make it more useful to the English reader.

The first and second volumes contain one-fourth more matter than the original. Other volumes of the Commentary are already in course of preparation by the editor, and Rev. Drs. Schaffer, Yeomans, Poor, Kendrick, Lillie, Mombert, Hackett, Hurst, Day, Tayler, Lewis, &c., &c. Other eminent Biblical scholars and experienced translators will be engaged as fast as is desirable to complete the work.

Each volume will contain one or more books, and thus be complete in itself.

The American Theological Review says:

"We welcome this Commentary as upon the whole the best single exposition that can be found, comprising all that is essential to a thorough, popular and useful work. It treats the Bible as an inspired book; yet it is also critical, meeting and not giving the slip to difficult questions. For textual criticism it affords ample means. Its exegesis is concise and pertinent. The doctrinal and homiletical parts are handled effectively. It is not sectarian, but adapted for use in all denominations. Those who may here and there differ from it, will not complain that it is wanting in either candor or learning. This edition is not only much superior to the Edinburgh, but it also surpasses the German."

THE TRIBUTE BOOK.
A RECORD OF THE MUNIFICENCE,
SELF-SACRIFICE, AND PATRIOTISM,
OF THE
AMERICAN PEOPLE,
IN DEFENCE OF THEIR INTEGRITY AS A NATION,
DURING THE WAR FOR THE UNION.
BY FRANK B. GOODRICH,
Author of "The Court of Napoleon," &c.

ILLUSTRATED FROM DESIGNS BY THE FOLLOWING ARTISTS:
Darley, Nast, Whitney, Cary, Hitchcock, Penn, White
Hogan, Stephens, Hennessy, Howard, Howland,
Shearman, Hochstein, Billings, Will, Hoppin, Hows, McNevin, Chapman,

Eytinge, Herrick.

TRIBUTES TO THE "TRIBUTE BOOK."
The publishers have received the following:
FROM ANDREW JOHNSON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

"The information contained in the TRIBUTE BOOK is of great interest, and the beautiful manner in which it is bound is highly creditable to the enterprise and success of your efforts as publishers."

FROM HON. JOHN BIGELOW, UNITED STATES MINISTER IN PARIS.

"Your TRIBUTE BOOK is a beautiful and precious monument of patriotism.

"I doubt if the world has ever witnessed such a demonstration of warm-hearted devotion to country and humanity as Mr. Goodrich has so conveniently embalmed.

"It will be henceforth, I hope forever, one of the ornaments of the library of this Legation."

FROM JOHN BRIGHT, M. P.
ROCHDALE, 15th Nov., 1865.

"DEAR SIRS: I write to thank you for remembering me and for sending me your handsome work, the TRIBUTE BOOK, the great record of the wonderful doings of your people during your great struggle. I think no other nation can produce such a record of patriotic efforts and sacrifices in any cause, and it will remain forever a matter of pride for your children in future times.

FROM MRS. ABRAHAM LINCOLN, CHICAGO.

"It will always be retained and cherished in the family with grateful feelings. A faithful illustration of the generosity and gratitude of our country toward the patriotic soldiers who so nobly fought in our defence."

The New-York Evening Post says:
"It is the story of seventy millions of dollars."
The Boston Journal says:
"It is full of interest, beauty and real splendor."
The New-York Herald says:
"In many eyes the book doth share the glory."
"The Philadelphia Bulletin says:
"It is absolutely magnificent."
The New-York Independent says:
"It is a volume of exceeding splendor."
The Philadelphia Telegraph says:
"It is a tribute to American generosity."
The New-York Tribune says:
"It is a romance in interest and history in facts."
The Philadelphia Inquirer says:
"It is intensely interesting and [illegible]ing."
The Boston Traveller says:
"It defies flattery and competition."
The Philadelphia North American says:
"It gives prominence to glorious facts."
The Boston Commonwealth says:
"It is a noble roll of honor."
The Philadelphia Press says:
"It will be the literary ornament of every fireside."
The Boston Saturday Gazette says:
"It is a rare and wonderful record."
The Boston Congregationalist says:
"It is a noble testimony to Christian patriotism."
The Publishers' Circular and Literary Gazette says:
"It is a trophy of the book-making art."
The Boston Transcript says:
"It is most desirable to own and prize."
The New-York Evangelist says:
"It is well worth the price asked for it."
The New-York Observer says:

"It was fitting that the story of those who at home sustained the Government in its life-struggle should be put on lasting record. Not they only who go to the battle-field are the defenders and saviours of their country. The women and the men who give their labor, their time and their money to the cause, who work and pray and send, who think of the sick and wounded and dying, and supply the hospitals and camps with food and medicines and the bread of life, these are entitled to the grateful memories of posterity, and the hearty commendations of their compatriots. It was a happy thought to embalm these patriotic works in one magnificent volume, a record of the voluntary offerings of the American people to the cause of their beloved country in the hour of its deadly peril."

The TRIBUTE BOOK is prepared with fidelity and impartiality, and the result is honorable to the philanthropic and religious character of the people. The mechanical execution challenges criticism. A large quarto, on the purest paper, combining elegance with durability, it is in all these respects, and every other, worthy of the illustrious object it is designed to commemorate. As it is published only by subscription, we doubt not that it will for many years to come be the crowning ornament and treasure of thousands of patriotic households in our happy land, rejoicing in peace and the restoration of a disturbed and beloved union."

THE TRIBUTE BOOK contains five hundred and twenty pages royal octavo, printed on fine tinted paper, and is illustrated by one hundred and fifty engravings. It is bound in Turkey morocco, gilt edges and sides, in the best style of workmanship. The book is sold EXCLUSIVELY BY SUBSCRIPTION, at the reasonable price of TWENTY DOLLARS.

The Metropolitan Insurance Company, of New-York, being convinced of the great convenience and safety of the system of deposit insurance, so long and successfully practiced in Europe, and in some of the other States of the Union, has decided to adopt the same in its own business, whenever it may be desired by the party seeking insurance.

This mode of insurance will be confined to dwelling houses exclusively, and will be conducted on the following plan:

The assured is required, on the issuing of the policy, to deposit with the Company such sum as may be agreed on, not to exceed the aggregate of ten annual premiums, which remains as a permanent deposit so long as the property stands, and the party desires to continue the insurance. If the property be sold, it is provided that the insurance shall still hold good for sixty days longer, in order to give time to make the necessary change in the policy.

Whenever the assured shall elect to terminate the insurance, or the same shall be terminated by sale as above mentioned, the assured will be entitled to receive back the whole sum deposited, less five per cent, which, with the interest, constitutes the premium reserved by the Company.

The Company reserves to itself, as heretofore, the right to cancel any risk, on due notice, in which case the whole deposit, without any deduction, will be returned to the assured. This right can be waived by the Company when parties going abroad desire to be secure against change.

An example of the practical working of this system is here presented:

Mr. Smith has a house which he desires to insure for $5,000; the annual premium on that sum is $12 50, ten years' premium is $125: this sum, deposited with the Company, makes the insurance perpetual, without further payment of any kind.

When the property is sold, or the assured desires to abandon the insurance, he applies to the Company, and receives back $118 75 of the $125. If the Company elects to cancel, he receives his whole $125, and the bargain is at an end.

The advantage of this method of insuring, in the case of dwellings, where permanent security is especially desirable, rendering unnecessary the constant watchfulness now required, in order to prevent a policy from lapsing, at an unlucky moment, cannot fail to be perceived and appreciated here, even more than elsewhere. The immense amount of dwelling property in this City, forming, in many cases, the bulk of great estates, must find this system especially valuable for its permanency and safety.

When insurance must be renewed from year to year the best memories may sometimes fail, and the property on which families depend for their sole support may disappear in an hour—once made, insurance by deposit need never to be renewed again, except where circumstances call for its discontinuance.

It keeps alive without watching. Insurance by this method is obviously cheaper as well as more secure. Thus, $5,000 costs say $12 50 per annum, on a first-class dwelling; while on $125 (the amount to be deposited) the interest at 7 per cent. is but $8 75. If the risk runs in this way ten years, the Company gets $8 75 per annum for insuring $5,000, and at the end $6 25 more, being 5 per cent. retained when the deposit is reclaimed—making the average annual premium $9 37.

We have no doubt that as fast as this simple and convenient system becomes understood it will so fully commend itself to all insurers of dwellings that few will think of protecting them on any other plan.

Full explanations of the working of this plan, under every variety of circumstances, will be furnished on application to the Company.

FILTH, CHOLERA, DISINFECTION, HEALTH.

THE NEW-YORK
DISINFECTING COMPANY,
OFFICE NO. 35 PINE-ST.
LABORATORY NOS. 298, 300 AND 302 HENRY-ST.

The above Company being newly organized on a permanent basis, and having erected an extensive Laboratory, with Dr. D. E. Courtaret, the celebrated French chemist, as its scientific conductor, is now prepared to furnish the public, in large or small quantities, Doctor Courtaret's patent DISINFECTING FLUIDS, for use in sick-rooms, water-closets, urinals, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, offal, fat-melting and bone-boiling establishments, all kinds of manures, swampy grounds, infected ships, streets and places; in fact, for every place and for all conditions of things where poisonous and offensive gases are generated. These disinfecting agents are not only DEODORIZERS, but ANTI-SEPTICS, ANTI-PUTRESENTS and DISINFECTANTS in the largest and most scientific meaning of the words. They do not remove disagreeable and noxious odors and gases by substituting other and pleasanter ones instead; but by and through true chemical principles, rendering the gases, fluids and solids with which they come in contact harmless, and causing many of them to become of immense value to every farmer and agriculturist. They simply and effectually destroy ALL offensive odors and health-destroying gases, leaving in their places pure healthful air. Nor are these fluids injurious to the utensils, plumbing or sewers in which they are used. The low prices at which they can be furnished will place them within the reach of ALL who desire cleanliness and health. The attention of MEDICAL MEN is particularly called to this subject; and all persons interested in sanitary measures are invited to give these disinfectants a trial. As there are SEVEN different disinfecting compounds prepared to meet all the evils found in the locations and materials enumerated above, the purchaser will plainly describe the premises or articles he wishes to disinfect, when the proper fluid or fluids will be furnished to meet each case. Attached are a few of the testimonials lately given in favor of this GREAT DISCOVERY, which, with hundreds of others, can be seen at the Company's office, No. 35 Pine-st.

When requested, persons in the Company's employment will be sent to any portion of the City to perform the operation of disinfection, at a reasonable charge.

DELAVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 23, 1866.

To Dr. Wm. W. Sanger, President New-York Disinfecting Company:

DEAR SIR: Having made a thorough trial of the Disinfecting Fluid lately introduced to us by Mr. Wm. T. Black, we are prepared to testify to the public that it is all that it is represented to be, and most peculiarly adapted to the purposes for which it is prepared, and do hereby recommend its use as a perfect disinfectant. We can the more readily do so, inasmuch as we have made many trials of disinfectants generally, but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others, both as regards price as well as proving an effectual remedy against all bad odors.

We are, Sir, yours, &c., T. ROESSEL & CO.

NEW-YORK, April 9, 1866.

Dr. Wm. W. Sanger, President New-York Disinfecting Company:

DEAR SIR: We have used Dr. Courtaret's Patent Disinfectant, and have thoroughly tested the same in every particular, and can pronounce it without exception to be the best we have ever known.

Its effect upon any and every matter is complete and instantaneous.

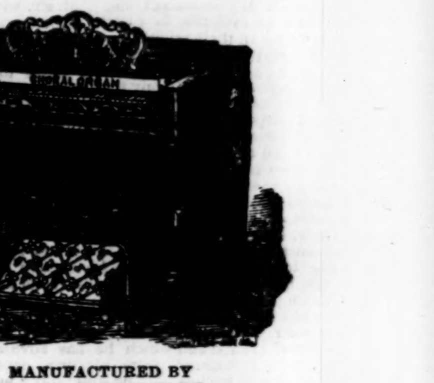
A. E. THOMPSON'S CHORAL ORGAN,



MANUFACTURED BY
T. S. BERRY,
WAREROOMS AND WHOLESALE DEPOT,
NO. 593 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK,
Between Prince and Houston sts.

CHORAL ORGANS.

It is admitted by all MUSICIANS who have examined the CHORAL ORGANS, that they combine more desirable qualities than any reed instrument ever before made. By a combination of arrangements, peculiar to the CHORAL ORGAN alone, the tone EXCELS in fullness, purity, and richness; and in the general mechanical arrangements of the instrument, it surpasses all others of its class. The patent Graduated Swell is controlled entirely by the feet, while blowing, requiring no change of position of hands or feet, thereby enabling the performer to produce all those beautiful effects for which the Organ is so eminently adapted. This SWELL is not a LOUD PEDAL only, but, as its name indicates, a SWELL, by which you glide from the PIANISSIMO to the FORTISSIMO at will, or instantly change from one to the other. This is peculiar to the CHORAL ORGAN. The voicing of the Reeds is done with the greatest care, in order to free them from the HARSHNESS often heard in reed instruments; and no one who listens to the CHORAL ORGAN but is attracted by the melodious sweetness of its tones. None should purchase an instrument of this class without first inspecting the CHORAL ORGAN.

NEW-YORK CONTESTED ELECTION.

Speech of the Hon. Henry L. Dawes, of Massachusetts, Chairman of the Committee on Elections, in the Case of Dodge vs. Brooks, April 6, 1866.

NEW-YORK CONTESTED ELECTION.

The morning hour having expired, the House resumed the consideration of the regular order of business after the morning hour, being the following resolutions reported from the Committee of Elections:

Resolved, That Hon. James Brooks is not entitled to a seat in this House as a Representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

Resolved, That William E. Dodge is entitled to a seat in this House as a Representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

The following amendment had been moved by Mr. Marshall:

Strike out all after the word "resolved," and insert in lieu thereof the following:

That William E. Dodge is not entitled to a seat in the House as a Representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

Mr. Dawes—I now demand the previous question.

The previous question was seconded, and the main question ordered.

Mr. Dawes.—Mr. Speaker, so much ground has been gone over in the discussion of this case, and so much as matter of testimony and of law, is involved in it, that it will be utterly impossible for me, in the brief hour allotted me under the rule, to make anything like an argument satisfactory to myself and worthy of the subject. I can only promise, Mr. Speaker, and that is all I have ever promised in any of these undertakings, to be faithful to the charge committed to me, and with whatever ability I may be able to command, with all candor and with a conviction that I have no right to be otherwise than, so far as in me lies, entirely impartial, endeavor to submit in summing up what is, in the opinion of the Committee, the conclusion of this whole case.

Mr. Speaker, the closing remarks of the sitting member were of so peculiar a character, so unusual in a discussion of this kind, that I may perhaps be expected to make some reply to them. I think that the House will bear the Committee out when I say, as their representative, that from the time when this evidence was submitted to them to be examined and weighed, until the present moment, not a word of a personal character toward either the contestant or the sitting member, or any individual member of the House, differing with them in their conclusions, has fallen from the lips of any one of them. I think further, Mr. Speaker, that, so far as my memory serves me, nothing that can be regarded as of a partisan character has fallen from any member of the Committee; and I hope that I may be able to say of myself, what I feel I can say of every other member of the Committee, on the one side and on the other, that they have striven to forget party on this occasion, and to regard this only as a contest between A B and C D, as to which has been rightfully elected as a representative from the Eighth Congressional District of New-York.

But, sir, it has been the fortune of the committee from the beginning of the hearing till the last dying notes of the sitting member, still echoing within these walls, to hear one continued strain and refrain of charges of the grossest corruption and bribery on the part of the contestant, and that, sir, without one scintilla of evidence to sustain such charges. The committee in their report ignored the whole thing, for the reason that the most diligent search of nine hundred pages of printed matter failed to reveal a single particle of testimony that any money whatever had been used by any person for any corrupt or unlawful purpose. But, sir, it has seemed fitting to the sitting member never to forget this strain; and while some word in defence of this contestant might properly have come from the city of New-York, where he is best known and where he has earned a reputation that will outlive any attacks that have been made upon it, still as the contestant himself has not, and I think wisely, deemed it proper to notice these attacks, it becomes me, I think, to say a word or two in reference to them and the source from which they come.

Sir, it cannot be true that a politician of many years' standing, who has affiliated with every political party that has lived and died during a long period of time, and has repudiated in succession the principles which they have avowed and which he has advocated; who has himself declared, from his own experience in mingling with parties, that he could buy a nomination for Congress at the hands of Mozart and Tammany Halls and the Republican Party, each and all of them at the same time, and then go into the canvass and, if he had money enough, buy up votes at five dollars a head to elect him—I say, Sir, it cannot but be true that such a man, whatever his ability and skill, will fail in attempting to transfer the character thus earned in a generation of such service, from himself to one who has never had the fortune to mingle in politics at all, who has earned among the mercantile community a reputation as spotless as the sun, a reputation as dear to him as the apple of his eye, and which up to this hour the breath of slander has never tarnished. Sir, the instincts of some politicians are as certain and unerring as the instincts of some animals, which can succeed in making the clearest water foul and muddy, and which he who is wise gives a wide berth, since he cannot come near them without being bespattered.

Sir, the sitting member has seen fit not only to attack the contestant with the charge of corruption, without a particle of testimony that one dollar was ever used for any purpose improper under the law of New-York or elsewhere; but in attempting to sustain that charge, he has made out a table which he has caused to be printed and spread upon our records, and which the minority of the Committee have unwittingly incorporated bodily in their report—a table which is as false on its face as it is in fact. The table sums up an expenditure of $15,508, and it does it in this way: one item of $2,900 is inserted twice; another item of $2,000 is inserted twice; another item of $2,200 is inserted twice; another item of $500 is inserted twice.

Mr. Marshall—Does the gentleman assert that there is no evidence that Mr. Dodge expended immense sums of money in this election?

Mr. Dawes—I say there is not a particle of evidence that a dollar of money was expended in an improper way.

Mr. Dawes—I do not know how long the patience of the House will endure; but I hold in my hand the testimony precisely as it was given; and instead of its proving what the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Marshall) claims in this report, and what is claimed by the sitting member, it proves the contrary, if it proves anything in the world. I refer the House to pages 34, 35, 36, 46, 47 and 48 of the testimony, where the witnesses of the sitting member himself deny point-blank his grand and leading statement that Mr. Barr had been hired, with the money of the contestant, to run for Congress against Mr. Brooks, or that they had expended one dollar of money with the knowledge of the contestant, or had expended it otherwise than in precisely the same way that money is spent by everybody in elections, in paying the expense of hiring carriages, procuring speakers, posting handbills, and in all the variety of methods in which money is usually and properly expended in elections.

Mr. Marshall—Mr. Speaker, let me say ——

Mr. Dawes—I decline to be further interrupted.

Mr. Marshall—Of course, if the gentleman will make these statements and will not permit corrections I must submit to it.

Mr. Dawes—Let me read from the testimony of the sitting member's own witness—Elliot C. Cowden:

> "I can only give you the leading idea. The idea was that Mr. Brooks had strong backers, and was in the way of raising a great deal of money—he mentioned through whom, but I don't remember now—and that no amount of money was wanted to carry on Mr. Brooks' election; and on the other hand, his means were very small; and while he did not ask us for a dollar, we thought it politic to give him some money—Mr. Cannon and myself—and we did it without saying a word to any one to my knowledge. It may have got out; those things always do; but Mr. Dodge was not consulted in regard to it; he knew nothing about it to my knowledge."

Mr. Speaker, one word more and I will proceed to what belongs to this case. I want to know for what purpose the sitting member has paraded the income of this contestant. For what purpose is it that he is continually referring to the abundance of the contestant's wealth? Is it for the same purpose in reference to this tribunal as appears in the charge in the New-York Express, that the contestant had succeeded in carrying his case through the Committee by the force of his money?

Mr. Brooks—The gentleman cannot say he ever read any such thing there. Le met say I have never read anything like that in the Express. I should deeply regret to have anything like that in the Express. So far from believing the Committee of Elections would be influenced by Mr. Dodge's money, I do not believe all of his money would buy the poorest man on it.

Mr. Dawes—I do not believe the gentleman would put it in the paper himself; it must have been put there in his absence. I take his own statement that he knows nothing about it. I stated it has been charged, and I asked whether he was trying to make the same argument to the House. I beg pardon if I have done him injustice. I regret that I have been compelled to say a word about this matter. I would not have alluded to it, Mr. Speaker, if I had not felt it was necessary for some one to repel the charge which seemed to be made upon this undefended contestant when there is not a member of the Committee who can put a finger upon a single dollar of money which has been used improperly in this case, whether by the contestant or any of his friends. But it has been brought up here, and this parade of his income has been made before this House for some purpose best known to the sitting member, which I wish I could explain charitably.

Mr. Speaker, if the contestant had paraded before the House that the sitting member was using his paper at home and his party at home for any such purpose, if the contestant had consented to such a mean and contemptible performance before the Committee of Elections, I should have felt bound to have treated it with all the indignation it deserved.

The Committee of Elections have weighed this testimony as well as they could. We may have erred. We claim nothing ourselves. The members of that Committee claim nothing beyond others, to sift and weigh testimony, and to judge properly of the conclusion to come to. But they do claim, Mr. Speaker, that they have faithfully examined and weighed this case. They do claim that they have spared no pains. They have spared no labor. They have omitted no opportunity. They have turned a deaf ear to no argument, come from what source it may. I have before me, taken from the record, a list of the time expended by the Committee in giving the sitting member and the contestant the opportunity they desired. Ten days, two hours each day, we listened to the learned gentleman from New-York. We heard no complaint he had one word more. The records show that he took two weeks to prepare a brief of what he had said. The Committee waited two weeks more before they came to a decision. Is it proper for him then to make any charge against the Committee?

What has transpired, Mr. Speaker, in the hearing of this case from first to last to justify the gentleman in his charge on the Chairman of the Committee that since the action of the House on the Bruce and Loan case he has failed to bring to the discharge of his duties here an upright and unbending purpose?

Sir, I have been now eight years on this Committee, not by any request of mine, sometimes put there against my remonstrance. During that time the records of the Committee show that fifty contested election cases out of eighty that have existed in the last thirty years have come before the Committee of Elections, and I stand recorded on every one of them, and on no report ever made by me has the House differed with me or failed to sustain me.

I make no pretension to any ability manifested in those reports, but I have this to say, that poorly as I may have been able to discharge the responsible duties of this position, there is one thing about them of which I am proud, and that is, they are all consistent. There is no conflict during all that eight years.

Mr. Speaker, the party with whom I have affiliated has been in power, and yet the book of contested elections shows that of the reports I have made, quite a number of them have been against my party, and I repeat that on none of them has the House failed to sustain me.

But that is of less consequence than the fact that at the close of this whole career, now drawing voluntarily to a close, I shall leave in this book a record which, if adhered to, I can trust my party associates on this floor with, if in the vicissitudes of fortune they shall come into a minority. No one decision in this book, for which in any degree I am responsible, will be found in conflict with any other, nor will any be found in conflict with the principles that will protect my party if they come into a minority, as I feel some conscious pride in saying they have to some extent protected the minority of this House on some occasions when I have felt there was some pressure upon them.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the House, is there anything that calls upon the House to treat this case otherwise than we have treated other cases? Is there anything in the position of the distinguished gentleman who now occupies this seat, or in that of his distinguished contestant, or in the circumstances in which we stand, that calls upon us to treat it otherwise than the House has treated cases for the last thirty years that have come before it? If there is, I have failed to see it; and in listening most attentively to what has been said here on one side and on the other, I have failed to hear one reason offered or suggested why we should not treat this case as we have treated all that have gone before.

For one I do not propose to stand recorded in this case in any other light nor under any other precedent than that which has governed me and the House in all the cases in which I have participated in bringing to a conclusion upon this floor; and until I hear some reason, I hope it will be sufficient for me to show that this case is like those which have passed before the House, upon which, after the most deliberate and calm consideration, we have entered judgment for and against the parties, and handed down that judgment to those who are to come after us, as testimony that we deal impartially with contestants in this body.

Sir, what is claimed by this committee? Not that because a board of registry was appointed and constituted of men who were not residents of their district that made the election void. There is no such claim by this committee as that the appointment of incompetent registrars made void the election. Nor is it claimed that because they did not appoint a clerk according to law, or did not administer the oath required by law, that made the election void. Nor is it claimed that because they did not hold their meetings according to law that made the election void. Nor that, when they did hold their meetings, because they did not discharge the duties imposed upon them by law, that made the election void.

What, then, is claimed by the Committee of Elections? It is this: that all these things put together were means through which fraud entered into the ballot-box in that district. Not that one of them of itself made the election void, not that all of them put together made it void, but that by means of them all fraud came into that box.

> "The Committee are of the opinion that there was no registry at this district; that neither of the persons appointed as Registrars was competent to hold the office; that the man acting as clerk acted without authority; that the mode of making up the registry itself was a fraud upon the Registry Law, and in no manner a compliance with its provisions; that the use of such registry at the polls as a guide to the Inspectors of Election contributed directly to the polling of fraudulent votes, and that the large and unaccounted-for increase of votes at this poll is directly attributed to these departures from and violations of plain provisions of law, and that to accept the result of such poll so taken and so counted as the true account of legal votes only, is to sanction most inexcusable violations of important provisions of law, essential to the purity of the ballot-box."

Is there anything erroneous in law in that conclusion? The committee have not stopped, as I said before, at what would be the effect if any one of those departures from the law alone existed, but they have taken for their guide the law of the State of New-York, as laid down in 4 Selden, and followed it literally in the conclusions to which they have come. I read the syllabus:

> 'An irregularity in conducting an election, which does not deprive a legal voter of his vote, or admit a disqualified person to vote, if it cast no uncertainty on the result, and has not been occasioned by the agency of a party seeking to derive a benefit from it, may be overlooked in an action in the nature of a quo warranto."

That is the position taken. All these things may have existed, and still no evidenbe of fraud in the ballot-box.

The Court, in the case referred to, says:

> "It is not to be disguised that there were irregularities in this district for which the inspectors were censurable, and perhaps liable to be punished by indictment. Had the defendant's counsel contended on the trial that these irregularities rendered the state of the canvass uncertain, he should have asked to go to the jury with the question whether the votes were accurately canvassed or not. By omitting to do so, and by conceding that the questions were questions of law, and not of fact, and allowing it to be proved, without objection, that the votes were accurately canvassed, nothing was left but the abstract question whether an omission to comply with the statutory requirements in question per se invalidated the votes of that district. If these requirements be directory, and not jurisdictional, the learned judge was right in deciding that the votes were properly allowed."

Now, sir, it comes to a question of fact, whether these agencies and frauds were perpetrated on the ballot-box; and all that has been said by the committee in reference to the character of these illegalities was only to show how they contributed directly to the bringing of fradulent votes into the ballot-box. The registrars were not residents and voters in the district, but strangers there, whot did not know the honest from the dishonest voters so as to be able to pass upon their qualifications as such. The failure to have a clerk sworn by law to make a faithful record enabled men without the sanction of an oath to do precisely what was charged upon this clerk, namely, make false returns and entries upon the register for the purpose of blinding the inspectors of election. The failure to hold their meetings in the place designated by law enabled them to hold a meeting unknown to the electors in the district, and therefore to create facilities for making a fraudulent registry to be the guide thereafter. The failure to post up the notice in the place where the election was held, for two weeks before the day of election, was a failure to advertise to the electors of that district the names of those they had registered, so that all could know whether they were true or false.

And in this connection I wish to call the attention of the learned gentleman from Ohio to the fact that the election was not held in the place where they held their other meetings for the performance of their duty. It was held in a stable near by. The law says that the notice shall be posted up in the room or place where they hold the registry, which the law designates as the place for holding the election. Therefore, the law says that the notice shall be posted up in the room where the election is to be held.

Now, this was not done. The list was posted up in Thompson's bar-room, while the election was held in his stable, off at a distance, communicating with this building, as we learn to-day for the first time, only by a passage-way up in the second story. Men who went to the place where the election was held, in the stable, would not find this registry list; and men who went would to the place where the list was posted up, not find the place where the election was held. The object of having the list posted up in the place where the election was to be held was, that for two weeks previous to the election every name recorded there as that of a voter might undergo a challenge. Now, that was not done.

Now, all of these things rendered it perfectly easy to perform the fraud that was charged in regard to this election precinct, and that is why the Committee have arrayed together the irregularities in this precinct.

Now, what was the evidence in this case? To begin with, the vote in the district was doubled; and beside the vote being doubled, according to the testimony of one of the Inspectors, there were two hundred and fifty legal voters who failed to vote. And the vote in this Fifteenth District was as large as it was in the Fifteenth and Twelfth Districts, forming the old Twelfth District the year before; and the part left of the old Twelfth District as the new Twelfth District, cast within a few votes of the old vote, so that the two districts taken together give double the vote cast in the old Twelfth District. And when you take into account the two hundred and fifty men who Brennan said were ready to vote when the sun went down and they were prevented from doing so, then you will have a thousand or more votes to offset the four hundred and ninety odd given the year before.

Mr. Hale—I desire to ask of the Chairman of the Committee of Elections (Mr. Dawes) if the Committee state to this House as a rule of law, that the fact that the vote of the new Twelfth and Fifteenth Districts exceeded the vote in the old Twelfth District by 65½ per cent. is of itself evidence of fraud in the election of 1864. The increase of the vote is precisely 65½ per cent.

Mr. Dawes—That is just like the learned gentleman on the other side taking up one of these irregularities by itself, and insisting upon it that I say that renders the election illegal.

Mr. Hale—The gentleman cannot have understood my question; allow me to restate it. I simply asked whether the Committee of Elections claim that fact of itself to be presumptive evidence of fraud. I make no proposition, but simply leave the question there.

Mr. Dawes—The Committee make no such claim. If my friend had been attentive to what has already been said, he would have learned that that fact of itself and alone is not regarded as evidence of fraud. But that taken with other things is one of the links in the chain of evidence that proves there was fraud. And if my friend cares to look over this book of contested-election cases, I will suggest to him to read the case of Blair vs. Barrett, and see what is said there, and what use the Committee made of that very kind of evidence in that case, and what the House did in conclusion of the case.

Now, I want the attention of my friend to this statement. You cannot double the vote in a little district that you can build a fence around in an hour—you cannot double the vote in such a district in a single year without being able to find some traces of it. You cannot double the vote in a single precinct in the City of New-York without being able to find some traces of it. There will be some new house built, some new family, some new resident in the district. They cannot vote without being residents of the district.

Now, how was it in regard to this district in which the vote was doubled in a single year? Not only was there no new habitation erected in the district, but some of the old ones had been pulled down. There was no new family in this district known to any of those parties; there was no evidence that there was any new-comer in the district.

And the evidence of one of the Inspectors of the Board of Registry was that the register had been incorrectly made, by the clerk purposely putting down wrong numbers and wrong streets. And there is evidence that the men could not be found at those numbers and on those streets, who were recorded as having voted on those streets and numbers. There is evidence that, to a large extent and per cent. in this district, men who were acquainted with the district and its residents, and who went around from house to house, were unable to find these voters anywhere. There is evidence that one of these parties attempted, while the other did not, to test the registry by a canvass of the district; and the evidence of the man who made the canvass was excluded on the motion of the sitting member, because it was in the form of an affidavit, the contents of which have never been before the Committee in any way.

Mr. Hale—The gentleman will permit me to ask him another question, simply to throw light upon the case, as I have failed to gather it from the report itself. I wish to inquire whether there was any evidence before the Committee of any effort whatever to trace out and falsify the poll-list as to the names and residence of the voters.

Mr. Dawes—It has been stated, over and over again, that the contestant employed for six weeks a man who had been a canvasser for the city directory, who ought to be a capable and skilful man for such work, to go from house to house, testing this registry. The evidence of this man was not introduced. But an officer of the Catholic Church, in the neighborhood, a man who was supposed to have a peculiar knowledge of the district, and who was one of the Board of the Election Inspectors of the district, was examined; and this affidavit, which has been excluded as part of the testimony of the contestant, was put before him, and he was asked about each one of the persons named. I submit that that was, so far as his testimony was concerned, a verification of the list.

Mr. Hale—Did he testify to having made any examination?

Mr. Dawes—Yes, Sir; he was employed by the sitting member for the purpose of discrediting this list which was excluded by reason of the objection of the sitting member.

Mr. Brooks—And we had four days in which to do it.

Mr. Dawes—When this witness came upon the stand to discredit the list, he verified it to a certain extent.

Then the sitting member called another witness, a German, to discredit this list. This witness pronounced 16 of the first 20 names to be bogus voters; and then the sitting member examined him no further as to that list. On the other hand Mr. Speaker, there is no reply or explanation as to the fact that the vote of this district was doubled, and more than doubled.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I think I have clearly explained the conclusions of the Committee. I shall not attempt to reargue or enforce the legal positions so ably presented yesterday by my colleague upon the committee, (Mr. Shellabarger.) No body has attempted to refute those positions; and in truth they are unanswerable. The facts, as I have shown, corroborate those positions; and in view of the law and the facts, I submit that the committee are fully justified in the conclusion that the vote of that district was so largely fraudulent, was based upon illegalities so glaring—contributing, in the language of Selden, directly to the frauds themselves—that there is no precedent, and ought never to be a precedent, for counting such vote.

The Committee are called upon to-day to state why they did not treat in the same way the vote of another district in which there was a majority for the contestant. Now, Sir, I beg the House to listen while I state, in the hearing of the members of the Committee, that one reasen why we did not pass upon that question was that we were never asked to do so.

Mr. Brooks—The gentleman will permit me to state that I did, in my brief, call the attention of the Committee to that point. On page forty-eight of the brief all the facts are set out in regard to that district; and it was the duty of the Committee to look at the brief.

Mr. Dawes—Mr. Speaker, in further corroboration of what I have stated, I call attention to the first paragraph of the sitting member's brief.

> "It is admitted on both sides that in the four contested Districts, namely, Twenty-first Ward, Seventh and Third Districts, and Eighteenth Ward, Thirteenth and Fifteenth Districts, two of the three Registers there were Republicans; also, two of the three Inspectors were Republicans; the poll-clerks (two in each) were equally divided in politics; that is, the Republicans had the registration of the voters before the election and the reception of the votes on the day of the election."

I now ask the attention of the House to what the sitting member claims was a call upon the Committee to pass upon this question. I read from page 48, under the heading, "A Dodge District:"

> "Twenty-first Ward, Thirteenth District. The vote stood: Dodge, 394; Brooks, 134; Barr, 27.
>
> The allegation is (B., 4) that the canvassers were absent pending the canvass, 'irregular and fraudulent,' and that thereby Dodge was made to run higher than Lincoln, President, who had only 376 votes. The vote for McClellan was 185. (See official returns."

Mr. Dawes.—Now, what does he say in that brief? He says that in the Twenty first Ward, Thirteenth District, the absence of canvassers pending the canvass (B., 294,) exposed the canvass to peril from outsiders, and that the district voted, Dodge, 394; Brooks, 132; Barr, 27; furnishing reasons, if any district is excluded from the count, the best reason for excluding this.

I am aware that the testimony which has been taken is in the book; but I repeat neither party asked the Committee to look at this. The sitting member described four contested districts, but he only referred to this, he said, for the purpose of elucidation. If I have time I will refer to the testimony in this district. I have already stated the Committee have not held any illegality in a district otherwise honest was any reason to set it aside. I have repeated it over and over again. Allow me to say that the Committee based their conclusions not upon the fact the Board was illegally constituted but upon these naked frauds which they afterward found. I want the House to understand that.

It was charged in this district, after the canvassers took possession of the boxes, they left the canvass and went away to get some refreshment—for twenty minutes. It is now claimed because they did that we must reject this if we reject the other. How is this charge supported? It is supported, if at all, by three witnesses, three only. Two of them swear only two of the canvassers went away, two only, naming them. One of them swears he and his associates stood right in sight of the boxes while they were gone and that they could see everything that happened, and that the boxes were not touched. There is some contradiction of the testimony here. One witness contradicts another witness. One swears one way and another contradicts him. One witness, a Senator-elect, or a Senator occupying his seat at the time, of the State of New-York, Senator Connolly, I think, swears that he was where he could look right on the boxes all the time until these men came back. Another witness contradicts him. One swears that three canvassers went away and left the boxes in charge of the clerk and a police officer. He swears before he went away that they canvassed the Congress box.

Now, Mr. Speaker, without any evidence that the box was touched at all; with the evidence of Senator Connolly, who swears that he was where he could see the box, and that during the whole time he saw nothing done to it; with the evidence of another, who said they canvassed the Congress box before they went away, and with the fact if there had been no canvass there could have been some discrepancy proved, we are asked why we ought to reject this box because these two or three men went away and left it.

And we are asked to do this at this late day. I insist that we would have weighed the testimony if we had been asked in the Committee to have done so.

Now, what is the duty of Congress? I do not ask them to take the report of the Committee blindly and without any question. I do not ask them to support its conclusion if from the testimony they are satisfied it is not a just one. But I insist it is the duty of Congress to do one of two things—either to support the conclusion at which the Committee has arrived or to show from the testimony why it should be rejected. I do not claim for the Committee the right to have its report adopted without examination. Every member of the House, as well as every member of the Committee, is responsible for the vote which he may cast; but the Committee have a double responsibility—they have to be responsible that they do not misguide the House. Now, here is a case admitted by everybody to be difficult to secure possession of all the facts involved. I do not ask on that account the report of the Committee shall be adopted without question. The testimony was so voluminous that it could not be expected that the members of the House could have carefully examined it. I do not ask that the report shall be adopted without question, but I do ask for it fair and candid treatment.

Now, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Garfield) came into the House and offered a series of resolutions to recommit this case to the Committee for further investigation. Upon what did he base his resolutions? This is the language of the gentleman from Ohio:

> "Now, one thing more: this whole case practically turns on the settlement of the question in relation to the Fifteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward; for if the report of the majority be accepted in all other particulars, and rejected in respect to that district, it still does not unseat Mr. Brooks. There are so many remarkable collisions between the reports of the majority and the minority, that I am unwilling to act until some of them are cleared away."

Now, I submit, Mr. Speaker, in all kindness to my friend from Ohio, if that is fair. Everybody knows that this is a voluminous and complicated case, and the gentleman has not had time to examine it and study it and understand the testimony. And yet he is unwilling to take the report of the Committee. Why? Not because he knows that there is anything in it wrong; not because he has found in it anything that is not corroborated by the testimony; but because the minority of the Committee do not agree with the majority.

Mr. Garfield—The gentleman will allow me to say that he has only referred to one of the points which I made. I trust he will not say that because the two reports differed I wanted further investigation.

Mr. Dawes—I understand the gentleman to say distinctly that he cannot vote upon this question until these discrepancies between the report of the committee and the views of the minority are reconciled.

Mr. Garfield—Discrepancies as to matters of fact.

Mr. Dawes—Because the committee who have studied this case, or who certainly ought to have done it, have made a report on it, find that two of their number are unable to agree with them, the gentleman from Ohio is unwilling to vote until that discrepancy is removed.

Now, let us see what are the points of difference between the members of the Committee. One of them is this: that the Committee say that the vote in the old Twelfth District is about half as much again as the vote in the Twelfth and Fifteenth Districts combined; and the vote in the Fifteenth District is three or four times as large as that of the Twelfth District. Well, now, instead of looking into the book to see which is right, the gentleman insists upon it that we must take the case back to settle that question. If he had turned to the book for one moment, he would have seen that the Fifteenth District was taken out of the old Twelfth District—a single page of the testimony would have settled that fact. But my friend says that he cannot vote until that discrepancy is reconciled.

The gentleman says, further, that this is a most remarkable statement upon the first page of the report:

> "If each were stripped of everything but that which could properly be called a 'particular specification of the grounds upon which the party relies in the contest,' very little would be left in either. The contestant, however, confined his proofs to the allegations affecting four precincts only, namely, Thirteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward, Fifteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward, Third District of the Twenty-first Ward, and the Seventh District of the Twenty-first Ward."

My friend read that much; why could he not, with that candor which becomes and adorns his character, have read further, as follows:

> "In the opinion of the Committee, there is contained in the several allegations of the contestant respecting these four precincts a distinct allegation of fraud in the election and error in the return, sufficiently specific to require an answer from the sitting member, and to form the basis of a fair trial of the facts involved in the issues thus made up."

But, Mr. Speaker, my friend from Ohio revealed another thing to which I wish to call the attention of the House. He spoke of the inspectors of election not residing in the district. He said the sitting member declares that that is general throughout the City of New-York; that he so declared in the debate yesterday. Now, Sir, I do not find any such statement of the sitting member, that he had so declared in debate, or that he had affidavits to that effect. I made diligent inquiry, and it came to pass that I ascertained that the sitting member had procured affidavits secretly, unknown to the Committee. After he had procured the rejection by the Committee of the affidavit of Dean about the residence of his voters, he himself procured affidavits and carried them secretly around among the members of this House, and it was not until he caused them to be read at the Clerk's desk that the Committee of Elections could derive any benefit from them whatever. They were taken not only without notice, but without knowledge on the part of the contestant.

My friend from Wisconsin (Mr. Paine), who is a fair and candid and true man, states in his speech, which I hold in my hand, that if the affidavit of Dean could have been used as evidence before the Committee of Elections, he would have been obliged to vote for the contestant. I ask him to take notice that the sitting member here yesterday supported his case by affidavits of which the Committee never had the slightest knowledge. I submit to him, therefore, whether the way is not clear for him to look into the affidavit of Las Casas Dean, and come to the conclusion legally, as I believe he has already done morally, that this seat belongs to the contestant. The sitting member has waived, by his proceedings here in the presence of the House, all further claim to have the affidavit of Las Casas Dean excluded.

Mr. Dawes—I was calling attention to the fact that while the sitting member had excluded, by the inexorable rule of law, testimony offered by the defendant, which was most important in its character, if true, in regard to the fraudulent character of this vote, excluded it because it was an affidavit, yet unknown to the Committee he has got together some affidavits and circulated them privately among members of this House. And then when he had the last word he has had those affidavits read at the Clerk's desk. Now, I submit it to the judgment of the House to say whether or not that was fair and right.

I want to show what has been the effect of all that on the part of the sitting member. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Garfield) proposes that the House recommit this case to the Committee of Elections. Sir, it ought to be recommitted to the Committee if one of two things has happened: if the Committee have not dealt fairly with the sitting member, or if he has not had a full and fair opportunity to be heard. Now, I do not intend to say anything more in regard to whether the Committee have dealt fairly with him.

But I wish to state a few things to enable the House to decide whether the sitting member has had or not a full and fair opportunity to be heard, and I make the statement in the hearing of all the members of the Committee of Elections. The Committee commenced this hearing early in January last. It was a long time before they could get the sitting member to a hearing, and when the Committee began the hearing it was without any testimony at all on behalf of the sitting member. To their inquiry where his testimony was, he gave this response: "I propose to submit this case to the Committee first upon the testimony produced and filed by the contestant and referred to the Committee. Then if you find a case against me, I will introduce new testimony and ask you to hear that."

The reply of the Committee to that was, that that was not the way to try a case; that he must put in his testimony, which was then in the Capitol and within his control, but not referred to the Committee; that he must have that referred with the rest, and the whole case must be tried together. Now, I ask the House whether that was fair or not, I ask the gentleman from Ohio, (Mr. Garfield,) because he is the mover of this resolution to have the case again tried by the Committee. I ask him as a gentleman of great experience whether it was fair for us to say to the sitting member, "We will not try this case one side at a time; put in your testimony along with that of the contestant, and when you say you are ready we will try the whole case?" Thereupon he did put in his testimony, and it was printed in one of these books of evidence.

Then when we again came to a hearing of the case, the sitting member made a new proposition, that we should try the case upon these two books, and then if the Committee found that the contestant had the right to the seat, the sitting member would ask him to take more testimony. The reply of the Committee to him was: "That is not the way to try a case; make up your mind whether you will go to trial on this record or not; if you are ready to go to trial upon this record the Committee are ready to hear you; if you are not ready, then say so." I ask the House to decide whether that was fair or not. The sitting member took a day to decide whether he would go to trial upon this testimony; at the next hearing he came in and said he was ready. And then it was that the Committee spent weeks in hearing him and the contestant. And the sitting member gave us notice that it would be May before we got through with this case.

Now, what comes from circulating these private affidavits here? Why, the gentleman from Ohio, (Mr. Garfield,) after seeing these private affidavits, and hearing the declarations of the sitting member in regard to them, comes in here and offers a resolution to recommit this case to the Committee, and thus enable the sitting member to attain the very end he seeks. What was that resolution?

> "Resolved, That the testimony taken as to Hon. James Brooks be recommitted to the Committee of Elections, with instructions to report especially the facts as to the custom, under the laws of New-York, of appointing Inspectors of the Registry of Elections not from the particular election districts in which they reside; also, the facts respecting the verification by Brooks of the votes for Brooks in the Fifteenth District, with power to send for persons and papers, and power to reinstitute judicial reëxaminrtion in said district."

That Mr. Brooks do so and so; not even that the contestant be allowed an opportunity to reply to that testimony.

It is proper for me to say that such is the honesty of the gentleman from Ohio that he never can be caught in any man's trap, and when it was pointed out to him that common justice required that the contestant should also have an opportunity to take testimony, he immediately modified the resolution which the affidavits had prompted him to offer, and to put it in such a shape as to provide that both parties should take testimony. I only submitted the original form of the resolution to show that the affidavits had tended in a certain degree to produce exactly the effect which the sitting member contemplated when he gave us notice in February that he would make us try this case over again on new testimony.

Mr. Brooks—Mr. Speaker——

Mr. Dawes—I cannot yield any further.

Mr. Brooks—What the gentleman says is not true.

The Speaker—The gentleman from Massachusetts declines to yield further, and must proceed without interruption.

Mr. Dawes—When it has been shown that the law required the Board of Registry to be residents and voters of the district; that the requirement of the law was not complied with in this district; that the Registrars gave every opportunity to cheat, and that cheating was carried on extensively, the gentleman from Ohio proposes that the case shall be sent back to the Committee, so that they may report whether in a great many other districts the same facts did not exist, as if that would be any answer. When the Committee have decided that the Board of Registry in that district was illegally constituted, and that a door was opened to fraud, the gentleman asks that we shall be directed to report the custom in the State of New-York in reference to that matter. The custom in New-York, I believe, is to cheat on all sides, though I do not know positively how that may be.

Mr. Raymond—I ask the gentleman from Massachusetts to yield to me for a few moments.

Mr. Dawes—I will yield to the gentleman from New-York for five minutes.

Mr. Raymond—I did not wish to interrupt the argument of the Chairman of the Committee, for what I have to say has no bearing on what he is discussing. Without entering into a canvass of the merits of the case—I am ashamed to say I have not possessed myself with a knowledge of all the testimony in the case—I desire simply to refer to one aspect of the argument of the sitting member, particularly as I heard him yesterday and to-day; I mean that portion of his argument which may be called argumentum ad invidiam, relating personally to the contestant, to his standing, to his wealth, and to various matters which, according to the allegation of the sitting member, have been connected with this contest. I listened with a good deal of surprise, Sir, to the gentleman's remarks upon the wealth of the contestant, to his rehearsal of the amount of his income, the net income upon which he pays tax, the aggregate income upon which he does not pay tax, the amount per annum, per diem, and per horam, and so much for each moment he drew his breath. What could be the use of such enumeration as that unless to appeal to the prejudices of the House against his wealth? That, I take the liberty to say, is an unfair appeal, and one with which this case has nothing to do.

I venture to say there is not a man in New York, or in the United States, or on the face of the earth, who knows the contestant in this case, who will for one moment pretend or suspect his possession of large wealth is to be weighed against him in this or any other scale. It has all been acquired honorably, justly, fairly, without wronging any man. After acquiring wealth in this way it is to his honor and something to be said rather in his praise than against him that he still has it. And something still more to his praise and honor should be the fact that he has expended it as liberally and nobly and honorably as he has acquired it.

There is not a man familiar with the charities of New York, or the charities outside of New York, which seek that city as the field of operation for the recruital of their resources, who does not know the contestant in this case is the first man to whom they all go and the man from whom they come with the largest contributions.

I do not think it was more just to reproach the contestant with the companionship attributed to him in the terrible sentence of Cicero's invective which he applies to the associates of Catiline, that the murderers, thieves, scoundrels, and rascals were all to be found, as the gentleman has with some freedom interpreted the passage, in the parlors of the contestant. Well, Sir, I perhaps stretch the matter a little too far, but I do not see how I can avoid the conclusion that the intention was to carry the impression that these men were in the parlors of the contestant for the same purpose and with the same motives which brought the companions of Catiline into his presence. I do him no injustice when I say he knows better than that. He knows no man ever stood in the presence of the contestant venturing to make any propositions dishonorable in any way. The sitting member will agree with me they were there for the purpose of being consulted as witnesses, and not as participants in any crime.

I rose simply to protest against personal injustice done to the contestant in this case, and I do not wish to enter into any further discussion of the matter.

Mr. Dawes—In the heat of what I have been saying I am conscious of having said something personal to the sitting member which I shall always regret. I ask permission of the gentleman to withdraw all such remarks.

Mr. Brooks—The gentleman promised to call the attention of the Committee to the fact that the July riots were in the Fifteenth District, and to show the testimony therefor.

Mr. Dawes—Mr. Speaker, I did promise to make an answer. I ask the gentleman to read the report. The report does not say that the July riots were in the district, but it says: "This district had a bad reputation in connection with the July riots." I think the gentleman knows what reputation is. I submit such was the statement in presence of the Committee without contradiction. They went from this district to the July riots, and those men made this reputation.

Mr. Brooks—Was that in the proof?

Mr. Dawes—No, it was not; but reputation is proof without taking depositions. It is what people say of him.

Mr. Brooks—They never said it. It was never said except by Mr. Dodge.

Mr. Dawes—It was said over and over again in the Committee-room. That is my recollection.

Mr. Brooks—Another correction. The gentleman said that in the Third District the canvasser was drunk. Is there any proof of that?

Mr. Dawes—There are two answers to that. That is a district in which the Committee are unanimous that the allegation was not sustained by the proofs, and, therefore, it does not make any difference whether it was so or not. The evidence is that the man drank liquor so many times that he could not tell how many, and fell asleep.

Mr. Brooks—Is that in the proof?

Mr. Dawes—I cannot spend time on these matters. That is the second thing; now, what is the third?

Mr. Brooks—The gentleman promised to make all these corrections. He said that Brady was a self-constituted clerk.

Mr. Dawes—I explained what I meant by that when the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Marshall) was on the floor. I meant that he was a clerk who was put in the place of his brother, without appointment, because his brother said he wanted to make employment for him. He did his work and took the pay as clerk in his brother's name. I call that self-appointment. I am not a lexicographer.

Here is the testimony of the man who drank the liquor:

> "Q.—Did you take any liquor there?
> A.—I might have taken liquor in the house that day.
> Q.—Don't you remember that you took liquor there?
> A.—I did not take very much liquor the same day.
> Q.—Don't you recollect you took liquor there?
> A.—I did.
> Q.—How many glasses did you take?
> A.—I don't recollect.
> Q.—Did you take ten?
> A.—No, Sir.
> Q.—Did Mr. Fitz Simmons give you this liquor?
> A.—I can't recollect whether Mr. Fitz Simmons or his bar-keeper.
> Q.—Either Mr. Fitz Simmons or his bar-keeper gave it to you.
> A.—Very like, Sir.
> Q.—Did he give it to others beside you?
> A.—Yes.
> Q.—Many others, or few?
> A.—I don't think there were many."

Mr. Brooks—Is there any proof that he was drunk?

Mr. Dawes—He drank a good deal of liquor and got asleep. (Laughter.')

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have spent considerable time on this collateral matter. I hope the Globe reporters will strike out of my remarks everything that is personal to the sitting member, that I may never have it to think of after this case is over.

I was dwelling upon the singular request made by the gentleman from Ohio, (Mr. Garfield,) first that we should take this case back and go into evidence whether others were in the habit of cheating in the same way, and second, as his resolution was modified, that both parties take further testimony about the Fifteenth District, and finally, as was modified by the adoption of the resolution now pending, thus:

Resolved, That the invalidity of the Register of the Fifteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward of the City of New-York would not of itself justify the rejection of the official returns of the canvassers of that District.

Resolved, That this case be recommitted to the Committee of Elections to report upon supplementary proof to be made as provided in the next resolution.

Resolved, That either party be authorized to take supplementary testimony respecting the election in the Fifteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward only, before the 10th day of May next, complying with the statutory regulations applicable to the case.

Provided, That five days' notice of any proposed examination of witnesses shall be sufficient.

Now, I want to inquire why the gentleman applies this proposition to the Fifteenth District of the Eighteenth Ward? If he had read the report, he would have found that there are two other districts in which the Committee said tnat the allegations were not sustained, because they were in doubt as to the testimony in regard to those districts. Why did the gentleman not think it of just as much importance to take testimony in regard to those districts as in regard to this one?

Mr. Garfield—This is the only one which decides the case.

Mr. Dawes—That only shows, as I stated before, that the testimony was so voluminous that my friend could not read it, and so he trusted to the minority report for his facts. We reported on four districts, two of which we sustain and two of which we do not, because there is doubt in the testimony. There is one thing more to which I will advert. The gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Garfield] says he is prompted to do this because we make this admission:

> "The committee are, however, of the opinion that it was competent for either contestant or sitting member to prove the casting of legal votes at this poll, even without a register."

Now, that is precisely what we in the report declared was a proper thing for them to do. They did not do it, but afterward the sitting member asked to have further time for that purpose. In that respect the resolution of the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Garfield] follows the very course which the sitting member desired.

And now I wish to call attention to the fact that when the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Garfield) adopted the resolution offered by my colleague on the committee, (Mr. Paine,) confining the taking of this testimony to the 10th day of May, the sitting member sprang to his feet and sought to extend the time beyond the 10th day of May. Let him not be concerned. If the resolution is adopted, and this is recommitted to the committee, he will not be required to be here on the 10th day of May; he will not be required to be here this session of Congress at all. It is not possible. There are four election cases behind yet to be heard. The testimony cannot be kept until after the 10th of May, and produced here until the close of the session. It will be January before he would get to the hearing of the case, and then he can take ten days as well at the next session as at this, and it will be the last two weeks of this Congress before the report will be made. And does the gentleman suppose that in the last two weeks we can spend four more days arguing this case?

That is the practical result of the proposition to submit it again to this Committee, and that, too, after every opportunity has been afforded that any contestant or sitting member has had in thirty years to bring his case before the Committee. There is not on record a case where a party has had a hearing of ten days, and has afterward come into the House and said he wanted more time to take testimony.

But my friend from Ohio (Mr. Spalding) has another mode of disposing of this case. My friend on my right came right out manfully, and said we had better confirm the sitting member in his seat than strike this side-blow at the report of the Committee by recommitting the report, the effect of which can be nothing else than to confirm him in his seat. The practical operation of it, I submit, is nothing else than to do so. But my friend over the way (Mr. Spalding) says that the method pursued by the Committee is not justifiable to set aside the vote of a precinct which is proved to be illegal and fraudulent, and which he agrees with the Committee is so, because we have no right so to override the will of the people in a precinct; and if we may do it in one precinct we may do it in two, and may thus unseat any member. I believe I state it correctly.

And that is the line of the argument of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Farnsworth.) It was an argument that evinced that he understood thoroughly the case. It was exactly in the line that I had heard before so long in the Committee, that no one who had heard it the first time could doubt but what it was an able and thorough argument, made from a complete understanding of the case.

But I want to call his attention to the fact that his conversion in the case surpasses that of Saul of Tarsus. For let us remember that in the last few moments of the debate in the Voorhees case my friend begged a few minutes of my time in order to make a speech, and he made haste to say that he disagreed with the Committee because they did not go far enough. Because the Committee set aside a poll and then gave the parties an opportunity to prove the votes, he said that that, in his opinion, was not law.

[Here the hammer fell.]

Mr. Eldridge—I move the gentleman's time be extended.

Mr. Dawes—I want five or ten minutes.

Mr. Eldridge—I move that the gentleman have ten minutes.

No objection was made.

Mr. Dawes—I only want to call attention to the speech of the gentleman from Illinois, (Mr. Farnsworth,) where, on the last days of the Voorhees case, he undertook to call the Committee to account because they not only set aside the poll for the same reason that they set aside the poll in this case, but they also gave an opportunity to prove the votes which were legally given: which, he said, we ought not to have done. Yet yesterday my friend made haste to say, when the Committee had done in this case exactly what he said they should have done in the other case, that it was not a principle by which he could stand.

Mr. Farnsworth—Will the gentleman allow me to point out the difference between the two cases?

Mr. Dawes—I understand the difference fully.

Now, my friend from Ohio (Mr. Spalding) has a more singular way of doing things than that. He says it is an unsafe proceeding to establish the precedent of setting aside a whole poll, because there was illegal and fraudulent votes cast in the district; for that would be putting the power in our hands to unseat any member. Well, and what is his remedy for that? He proposes to set aside all the polls.

He says it would be most unprecedented, most unjust, most wicked to set aside this poll, although in his speech he agrees with the Committee that it was fraudulent and illegal, and therefore void. But he says it gives us the power to unseat a member by setting aside just as many polls as we please, and then he proposes as his remedy that we set aside all the polls.

Now, it is our duty to do something else; it is our duty to say, and to say now, which of these two men was elected, unless we believe in one of two things. We must believe, if we refuse to decide which of those two men was elected, either that the Committee are fools, and cannot reproduce the conclusions which lie in the testimony, or that they are knaves and refuse to do so—one or the other. I ask nothing in behalf of the Committee. I only ask this House not by any side-blow to set aside the report of the Committee; not to recommit the case to the Committee for the purpose of taking more testimony, which will end in leaving the sitting member here, for reasons I have already stated, unless they think the Committee have not treated him fairly, and have not given him every opportunity to try his case as it ought to have been tried.

I have no doubt the committee will, as well as they may, cheerfully perform any duty which is devolved upon them by the House. But I confess to a lack of strength and some feeling of discouragement, if all the labor which they have performed in this case is to be set aside and considered as naught. I believe it has been the honest endeavor of the committee to sift this case fully; and having done so, with all their knowledge of other cases and the principles therein involved, there has been left upon their minds a clearer conviction than ever rested upon them in other cases, that the honest return left the majority of the votes in favor of Mr. Dodge. And that is the reason why they have reported a resolution that the contestant should have this seat.

The several amendments having been rejected the question recurred on the following resolutions reported by the Committee on Elections:

Resolved, That Hon. James Brooks is not entitled to a seat in this House as a Representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

Resolved, That William E. Dodge is entitled to a seat in this House as a Representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

Mr. Conkling—Are those resolutions divisible?

The Speaker—They are divisible upon the demand of any member.

Mr. Conkling—I call for a division. I desire a separate vote on these resolutions.

The Speaker—The vote will be taken separately. The question is now upon the first resolution.

Mr. Eldridge called for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken, and it was decided in the affirmative—yeas 84, nays, 45, not voting 54.

The question then recurred on the second resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That William E. Dodge is entitled to a seat in this House as a representative in the Thirty-ninth Congress from the Eighth District in New-York.

Mr. Eldridge demanded the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken, and it was decided in the affirmative—yeas 72, nays 52, not voting 59.

Mr. Dodge presented himself at the Clerk's desk, and was duly qualified.

METROPOLITAN BOARD OF HEALTH

Adoption of the Code—The Rinderpest—Timely Precautions—No Cholera here Yet.

At the meeting of the Metropolitan Board of Health yesterday afternoon, the Code of Health Ordinances, which had been prepared by Counsellor Eaton, was taken up section by section, after much discussion and a few necessary amendments, adopted, and it was ordered that 2,500 copies be printed. The code requires every practising physician within the Metropolitan District to make record of his name, office, residence, etc., at the office of the Registrar of Health, so that the officers of the Board may compare his signature with that appearing on any burial certificate bearing his name, and that every person who acts as sexton or undertaker shall make like record. The removal from any building or vessel of any person sick from any contagious disease, is forbidden, except under permission of the Board.

The sale of impure or adulterated milk, unhealthy meat, fish, birds or fowls, is forbidden. No cattle shall be driven in the generally built-up portions of the Metropolitan District, except between 9 in the evening and an hour after sunrise of the next morning; nor shall more than 20 cattle, or 100 hogs, or 100 sheep be driven together. No oyster shall be brought to, or offered or kept for sale in, any market-place or building, between the first day of June and the first day of September of any year, without permission from the Board. No person engaged in selling any fish, meat, birds, fowl or vegetables shall encroach upon any street or sidewalk, without permit from the Board. No person shall keep any diseased or sickly horse, cattle, swine, sheep, dog or cat in New-York or Brooklyn. No person shall offer for sale or bring into the Metropolitan District any watered or adulterated milk, nor any milk commonly known as swill milk, nor any rancid or unwholesome butter or cheese, nor any butter or cheese from cows, or the milk thereof, that are kept in stables or fed on swill or garbage. Not more than fifteen cows are to be permitted to be kept on any acre of ground within the district. In every dwelling or other house there shall be 1,000 cubic feet of air for every person, and in computing space, no cellar, closet, hall, cupboard, or any room not properly lighted and ventilated, shall be taken into account. The least clear perpendicular space of any story of any building hereafter to be erected must be nine feet. No person shall sell or give to any other person (or permit such other person to get, having the right and ability to prevent the same,) any intoxicating or exciting drink, when such first-named person may have reason to think or believe that such drink may cause or contribute to danger or detriment to life or health, and no person shall sell or give any intoxicating liquor to any child under twelve years of age.

DISTILLERY-FED COWS.

Dr. Percy, on invitation, addressed the Board upon the 123d section of the Code, a section which contemplates the abolition of the swill-milk concerns of Long Island. Dr. Percy warned the Board against sending the diseased cows from their pest-houses to herd with the cattle of our farmers, and in the event of the sending of these cattle he desired especially to notify farmers that it is dangerous to put such cattle with their healthy stock. The Board ought to adopt measures for the killing of these cattle, and the State could far better afford to pay for every head within the distillery stables than permit them to go into the country. The Doctor added that he has established the fact that Trichina exists among the cattle in some of the Brooklyn stables.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

Superintendent Dalton transmitted a communication to the Board informing them that the case of Mary Heil, of No. 42 Delancy street, reported to have died of cholera, had been investigated by Drs. Elisha Harris and Stephen Smith, and that no indications of cholera had been found. The report further adds the gratifying intelligence that cholera does not exist in this city.

Commandant Charles H. Bell, of the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, complained of the filthy condition of the streets near the yard, and the Board ordered them cleaned at once.

President Schultz presented a letter from Assistant Secretary of State F. W. Seward, inclosing a letter from the U. S. Consul at Bermuda, informing him that certain ships which had not been permitted to break cargo there are on their voyage to this port.

Mr. Oliver Charlick, President of the Flushing Railroad, sent a letter to the Board, asking delay in the matter of removing the manure heaps from the passenger depot at Hunter's Point, to enable the road to extend their pier so that they may receive manure at a place remote from the passenger depot. The difficulty appears to be, there is a contest between the Flushing Railroad and the Long Island Railroad concerning the use of a pier.

On motion of Judge Bosworth, it was

Resolved, That it be referred to Commissioners Parker, Stone, Crane and Swinburne, to report to this Board, without delay, the evidence there is of impending pestilence, and what measures should in consequence thereof be taken, and what acts done by this Board for the preservation of the public health, and which, in their opinion, the public safety and health demand.

Bold Attempt at Robbery.—On Monday evening Mr. George C. Weed, Cashier and General Superintendent of the Etna Iron Works, was assaulted by three men in Rivington-street near Norfolk, who knocked him down with a club. Mr. Weed had during the day drawn $12,000 from the bank to pay off the hands in the Iron Works, and it is supposed that his assailants were aware that he had the money in his possession. They failed, however, in securing the plunder, as the approach of citizens caused their flight. Mr. Weed recognized his assailants, and the police are making strenuous exertions to effect their arrest.
